Two Fliers Miss Death In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 13.—(AP)—After twice meeting with near disaster on Alaskan legs of their globe-circling journey, a British aviatrix and her navigator plan to take off here tomorrow for Whitehorse, Y.T., in their single-engined light plane.

The two, Mrs. Richard Morrow-Tait and Michael Townsend, landed at Elmendorf field last night with the help of the air force's ground-control-approach (GCA) system which was used to talk them down.

They brought in their second-hand former RAF plane "Thursday's Child" on the third pass over the field. Only a 20-minute supply of gasoline was left in the tanks. Runway lights had failed and fog had cut visibility to one-eighth of a mile.

The 24-year-old ex-airl's model and her navigator have been 87 days en route. Their stop here was the 20th of the journey.

Fine Week-end In Prospect

Bright weather with temperatures running above the average for this time of year are in prospect for the weekend, according to Edmonton's weatherman.

The forecast calls for clear skies with wind from the northwest at 15 miles per hour with estimated high for today of 40 degrees.

Rain and snow which fell in Edmonton yesteday afternoon through to early this morning measured .28 inches, the heaviest precipitation reported anywhere on the prairies.

Vermilion reported .28 inches of rain and snow, Rocky Mountain House .02 and Medicine Hat .06. Only traces of rain and snow were reported from Lethbridge, Calgary and Red Deer.

Garson Resigns Manitoba Post

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—(CP) — Stuart S. Garson resigned today as premier of Manitoba, a post he had held for nearly six years and which he vacated to assume federal cabinet rank, and was succeeded in office by Douglas L. Campbell.

The ceremonies were brief. Mr. Garson's resignation, along with those of his cabinet colleagues—a necessary formality in such instances, was turned in shortly before the swearing-in of the new premier. Mr. Garson has been a member of the Manitoba legislature for 21 years.

AT SCHOOL TRUSTEES' MEETING

Misbehavior, Vandalism Charged to Teen-Agers

Mrs. F. C. Butterworth, Edmonton School Board trustee, introduced a resolution, before more than 200 delegates Friday, which would "elevate standards of behavior" of students throughout Alberta.

Speaking in particular of Edmonton youth, Mrs. Butterworth said:

"There have been many complaints here that our children are rude and rowdy. Damage from vandalism this year alone has totalled more than $2,000."

TEENS' HAVE ANSWER

However, Miss Audrey Phillips, treasurer of the city's large Edmon-teen Club, declared that "it's not as bad as some of them would like to make out."

"Of course some kids are a little out of hand," she declared, "but so are a lot of adults. So far as the school board is concerned, they're not interested in us or ever consult us about any trouble they claim we make. Everything we do is wrong."

"So far as I can see, the only thing they're interested in is the rent we pay them for the two halls our clubs use to keep the kids off the streets."

MRS. F. C. BUTTERWORTH
. . . Blames teens.

AUDREY PHILLIPS
. . . She has answer.

R. S. Sheppard, superintendent of schools, said that "vandalism" referred to numerous school windows broken by mischievous youngsters.

"We appealed to Home and School Associations over a year ago, and the results have been better," he assured.

One convention delegate declared that teen-agers "are not entirely to blame for their conduct, considering the home conditions of some of them."

To this, retiring association president Henry E. Spencer commented:

"Maybe we should send this complaint before the adult education division."

TARENTUM, Pa., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Thirteen - year - old Sterling Rankin, soliciting funds to buy flowers for a friend's funeral, was shot to death as she opened a neighbor's door. Police said a shotgun was fired accidentally last night by a 12-year-old boy. No charges will be filed pending a complete investigation.

Daring Bandit Gets $14,000 In Edson Homes

A "Paperchase Bandit" victimized two homes in Edson to the tune of more than $14,000 early Friday.

Robberies were discovered when children found a paper trail of cheques, discarded by the robber, leading from the raided homes.

Victims of the marauder were two homes on Main street of Edson occupied by Mrs. H. Brown and the Lee Armstrong family.

The thief, after committing the crime, apparently discarded cheques which he figured would be worthless to him, as he walked away from the scene.

He also discarded a purse which he obtained in the Armstrong home.

Police said today a good proportion of the loot, represented by cheques, was recovered.

The thief first entered the home of Mrs. Brown through the unlocked door, police said.

He was frightened off by Mrs. Brown.

The thief was ransacking a dresser drawer in the Brown home but fled when questioned by Mrs. Brown.

He later entered the Armstrong residence.

Elizabeth Dines Out As She Waits Her Baby

LONDON, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Princess Elizabeth, expecting a baby this week-end, surprised crowds outside Buckingham Palace last night by going out to dine with friends.

Accompanied by her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, the Princess was driven by automobile to the home of Lord and Lady Hambourne on Chester St., less than a mile from the palace.

Princess Elizabeth attended the wedding in 1946 of the 24-year-old Lord Bradbourne and his wife, the former Lady Patricia Mountbatten, daughter of Earl Mountbatten, the last viceroy of India.

The general guess is that the royal child will be born sometime during the week-end and London evening newspapers displayed prominently on front pages a quotation from the Princess' doctor, Sir William Gilliatt, that the birth will "be later today or tomorrow."

This afternoon Princess Elizabeth walked in the gardens of Buckingham Palace while her husband, Prince Philip, was attending a naval display in London.

As Elizabeth stood looking over the courtyard in front of the palace she smiled and newspaper cameramen, using long-focus lens, took pictures of her.

Sir William Gilliatt, the Princess' gynaecologist, and Sir John Weir, the King's physician, made another routine visit to the palace. Buckingham Palace officials said the 22-year-old Princess is in excellent general health.

As the time of the event draws closer preparations are taking on a faster pace. Yesterday the army announced its plans to announce the royal infant.

At Catterick camp in northern England, bands will play and trumpeters will sound the Royal salute and an artillery regiment will fire a Royal salute. Throughout the United Kingdom fires are expected to be lighted on hilltops to herald the Royal birth.

(In Singapore, the firing of a battery of artillery guns yesterday started a flood of rumors that the baby had already been born. The salute was a greeting to the French cruiser Duguay Trouin which arrived in port)

Outbreak of Violence Occurs During Night

Arms Slash Proposal Is Rejected

Move by Russians Is Turned Down By UN Committee

PARIS, Nov. 13.—(CP)—The United Nations political committee rejected tonight a Russian proposal for a one-third cut in the air, land and sea forces of the big five powers and for prohibition of the atom bomb.

Earlier Russia asked the United States before all of the United Nations today:

Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky declared heatedly in the UN political committee that "the European part of Russia—this meant of Russia—is no admiral."

Vishinsky said Lt-Gen. George C. Kenney of the United States Air Force wrote in the magazine Newsweek last May 17 of a plan to use the atom bomb against Moscow and other Key Soviet cities.

The Soviet delegate was replying to charges made yesterday by Frederick Osborn of the United States. Osborn contended Russia is using "propaganda" to "prepare her people for war" and still aims at world revolution.

REFUSES FIGURES

Vishinsky refused to give figures on the strength of Russia's armed forces, asked for by Hector McNeil, British minister of state, in the committee yesterday.

"It is not my business," he declared. "But we will tell the international control body, at the same time as you tell your real figures."

Vishinsky said Kenney, a native of Yarmouth, N.S., wrote that airplanes carrying atom bombs could take off from British bases and, flying at 35,000 feet, could strike at Moscow and other Russian key cities.

"Do we say that our airplanes

MAYBE THEY'LL CONCENTRATE MAKING MUSIC

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. —(AP)—Radio comedian Arthur Godfrey has ordered his musicians not to laugh at his jokes.

He said it would cost an extra $800 to $900 a week salary for each man.

Union rules, he explained. If they laugh or sing they'll come under an additional union—the American Federation of Radio Artists. They already belong to the AFL musicians.

"Here for three years, the six boys in my band and I have been having all kinds of fun," Godfrey told a reporter today. "They's sing choruses and we'd kid each other.

"Then all of a sudden AFRA begins to squawk and says they can't do it. If they open their mouths to sing they come under AFRA's jurisdiction. That adds the extra salary.

"They don't dare laugh even."

Flying Clubs To Get Grants

CALGARY, Nov. 13.—(CP)—D. K. Yorath, president of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association, stated in an interview today that he had been advised in a letter from Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, acting minister of transport, that, subject to approval of treasury board, flying training under the government's proposal for pilot grants, could commence on Jan. 1, 1949.

The grants will be paid to clubs, schools, and pilots, in respect to pilots who complete their training and obtain their license after April 1, 1949. It is anticipated that the agreements, which will have to be completed by approved clubs and schools, will be ready for execution by the first of the year.

Student pilots who have already commenced their flying training and have flown a small number of hours, will not be cut out from the grants provided they do not obtain their license until after April 1, 1949, but they will have to complete the approved course.

Robbery, Assault Reported to Police

There were two robberies with violence, an attempted holdup, two attempted safe robberies, violent assault on a woman and another assault on a man.

Under investigation by city police today was an assault on Anne Barnett of No. 8 Connors Road.

STRUCK OVER HEAD

She reported to police a man slipped up behind her at 95 street and 105 avenue and struck her a heavy blow over the head. She thought the attacker used a wrench.

The woman's assailant fled on the approach of a car and the victim was taken to hospital by a passing motorist. Two stitches were required to close the head wound.

BEATEN AND ROBBED

Wesley Thomas Holmes, 10660 97 street was beaten and robbed in an alley near a 97 street hotel by two men he was unable to identify.

The robbers obtained $17 and a fountain pen from Holmes. He had placed $200 in a hotel safe earlier in the evening.

Norman Mould of 11327 125 street escaped from a man who brandished a gun and threatened to shoot as Holmes was entering his car outside his Jasper avenue office building at 10:30 p.m.

The bandit told Mould to "get in" his car and when Mould backed away the former warned:

"Get in or I'll shoot."

TWO MEN ESCAPE

The other robbery in which violence flared was in the Hong Kong Chop Suey parlor, 97 street and 101A avenue.

The proprietor, Mah Bing, reported he was robbed of a roll of bills by two men who attacked him in a rear booth. The robbers grabbed the Chinese around the neck and struck him in the face.

They made good their escape

Vasilevsky Is Relieved Of Staff Duties

LONDON, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky has been relieved of his duties as chief of the general staff of the Russian army.

It added that the reason was to relieve Vasilevsky of an excessive burden of work.

The broadcast, heard in London, said he would retain his post as deputy minister of the armed forces of the USSR.

The Soviet council of ministers has appointed Gen. S. M. Shtemenko as chief of the general staff and deputy minister of the armed forces, the broadcast said.

WARNED OF COMPLACENCY

Three years ago, in a speech commemorating the 28th anniversary of the October revolution, Vasilevsky said:

"In international relations the Soviet Union occupies a worthy and becoming place. Democratic masses of other countries see in our nation a reliable stronghold of peace."

He warned the Russian army against complacency saying "there can be no place for giddiness from success." Vasilevsky said history was full of examples of victorious armies losing their fame because of conceit, indifference or failure to learn.

HONORED IN 1945

In Sept., 1945 Vasilevsky was awarded a second gold star medal for leading the Russian armies against Japan. A Red army chief of staff before Russia declared war on Japan, he led the forces which liberated the Crimea, and later captured Koenigsburg in the drive to Berlin.

In March 1947, Vasilevsky was made first deputy to Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin, minister of the Soviet armed forces, and now a member of the politburo.

SLAIN GIRL LEFT MEETING WITH MAN

BOULDER, Colorado, Nov. 13.—(BUP)—Witnesses have told police in Boulder, Colorado, today that they saw 18-year-old Teresa Foster leave a church club meeting with a man last Tuesday night, some 48 hours before her body was found in a lonely ravine south of Boulder.

A 40-year-old Boulder resident, Gerald Kuntz, gave police their newest tip on the sex slaying of the pretty university of Colorado co-ed. At the same time authorities in Amarillo, Texas, are holding two unidentified men for questioning about the slaying. In addition, the Denver missing person bureau has been asked to help locate 17-year-old Lillian Debell—a student from Colorado College who disappeared Nov. 1.

CHAPTER V

In modern war, battle areas frequently extend over hundreds of miles of front and are equally extensive in depth. Throughout such a theatre are combat troops, replacement camps, hospital centres, lines of communication, repair shops, depots, ports and a myriad of service organizations, both air and ground. In the same region dwells a civil population, sometimes friendly, sometimes hostile, sometimes neutral or mixed in attitude. All these units, individuals and activities must be carefully controlled, so that everything is coordinated toward the achievement of the theatre commander's strategic plan.

NEED FOR CARE

An early, happily minor, break of security by an American officer who had taken too much to drink brought to my attention the need for exercising particular care as to the habits of every individual assigned to an important post. Loyalty and efficiency were not enough—discretion, reliability and sobriety were mandatory.

Where individuals were relatively unknown or untested our highly efficient Secret Service organization was called upon to conduct a confidential investigation. All of my personal staff, without their knowledge, were so checked and tested over a period of weeks. The issues were too great to trust to chance; even chauffeurs had occasional opportunity to pick up information of value to the enemy.

INSTRUCTIONS FROM THE BRITISH and American governments were not to include General de Gaulle, then in London, in plans for Operation Torch, the invasion of Africa. The British, particularly, did not trust him. Gen. de Gaulle is shown above during the war as he laid wreath on Cenotaph in London on the anniversary of Bastille Day.

INCLUDED ALL

In the organization, operation, and composition of my staff we proceeded as though all its members belonged to a single nation. Nevertheless we tried to include in every section individuals from both nationalities, and certain modifications in normal United States organization were compelled by differences in the staff procedures of the two countries.

In the early days officers of the two nationalities were apt to conduct their business in the attitude of a bulldog meeting a tomcat, but as time went on their own discoveries of mutual respect and friendship developed a team that in its unity of purpose, devotion to duty, and absence of friction could not have been excelled if all its members had come from the same nation and the same service.

AMERICAN CITY

Because of the chance that through accident something might incapacitate me, particularly in the early stages of the operation, it was decided best to have the deputy also an American, so that the fiction of a practically exclusively American operation would be preserved as long as possible.

To this post was named Major

Hush Plane Story Work of Briton

Air Marshal Curtis Hopes Prosecution Is Possible

OTTAWA, Nov. 13. — (CP) — Possible legal action against Charles W. Cain, British aviation writer identified as the author of an article disclosing details of Canada's secret jet fighter, will depend on further investigation, Air Marshal W. A. Curtis said today in an interview.

The chief of the air staff, who said yesterday that he is "most anxious" to prosecute the person responsible for disclosing information about the plane, said Cain could not be reached under Canada's Official Secrets Act.

"I don't know whether he can be prosecuted under the British Official Secrets Act or not," Air Marshal Curtis continued. "I hope so."

EXPERTS IN DOUBT

Legal experts said they doubted whether the British Officials Secrets Act had any extra-territorial application. They said it might prove, however, that any one wanted in Canada under the Dominion's Act could be brought here through the Fugitive Offenders Act which applies among countries of the British Commonwealth.

Cain visited the United States in the autumn and is reported to be en route to Britain.

Air Marshal Curtis said he did not know whether Cain had visited the A. V. Roe plant at Malton, near Toronto, where the jet fighter is under construction. He added:

NOT GIVEN LEGALLY

"I know he wasn't given the information by A. V. Roe—he wasn't given it legally. I know that definitely."

Air Marshal Curtis said the RCAF is "interested" in both the author of the article, which appeared in the U.S. publication Aviation Week, and the source of his information. The story gave a detailed description of the XC-100, a Canadian-built twin-jet fighter. Its existence had been generally known, but no details of its specifications.

will slip in over the United States with their objective New York?" he asked.

ARTICLE PROTESTED

Vishinsky said Russia protested against the article but was told by the United States there was freedom of the press in that country.

"Is there freedom of the press for journalists who write about negroes being lynched in public squares?" the Russian asked. "In that case they are jailed."

Vishinsky declared there was "unbridled war propaganda" in the United States.

The Newsweek article was the subject of two other blasts from Moscow earlier this year. On June 9, an official Soviet note complaining of alleged American warmongering cited the Newsweek article. A week previous, the Soviet member of the Allied Council for Japan wrote to Gen. MacArthur saying the article contained "insolent slander" about Russia.

Newsweek said then that the article simply reported military thinking at the time in both Washington and Moscow. The story described how the United States Air Force would operate and how the Russians probably would operate "if the Russians suddenly went berserk and swept into western Europe."

No Jet Passenger Planes For TCA

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Trans-Canada Air Lines officials said last night they were not planning to use turbo-jet airliners as passenger aircraft.

They were commenting on a report from Toronto that an aircraft designed to use the power of the turbo-jet would be tested by A. V. Roe, Canada, Ltd., preparatory to going into TCA service.

STILL GOING?

Rocket Ship Disappeared 40 Years Ago

WOKINGHAM, Berkshire, England, Nov. 13.—(CP)—To the people of Wokingham, news that the British Interplanetary Society is planning rocket-ship flight to the moon is no cause for amazement.

The older villagers still talk of their own space ship of 40 years ago, which became known as the "Wokingham Whale."

The "Whale" vanished into thin air on a September day in 1909 when, amid great rejoicing, it left on a truck for Windsor to have its engines installed.

Whether the "Wokingham Whale" and its inventor, Robert Farbrother, took flight and soared beyond the earth's orbit, or whether Farbrother changed his mind and sold it for scrap, no one knows.

But many remember him and one in particular—Alderman F. J. Barrett—recalls working beside the fabulous inventor in his backyard workshop.

"Somehow the engines for which the 'Whale' waited never arrived," said Barrett. "One morning Farbrother and his space ship left for Windsor—and neither was ever seen again."

before Mah Bing could raise an alarm.

William Harrison of 9241 110A avenue reported he was pummelled about the head by a stranger who struck him from behind in a beer parlor tussle.

Although the dial was knocked from the safe mechanism, the robber or robbers were unsuccessful in efforts to open the money box.

Entry was gained through removing a board and pane of glass in the rear door of an adjoining building.

Police learned of two other attempts at burglary.

Rear door of the Edmonton Farm Equipment Co., 10351 99 street, was smashed by an iron bar but a locked inner office door foiled the robbery attempt.

William Bowker, 10925 85 avenue, returned late Friday to find the place ransacked but was unable to state immediately if anything of value had been stolen.

Interior Of Navy Barracks Burned

MONTREAL, Nov. 13.—(CP)—A brief but fierce fire early today gutted the interior of HMCS Donnacona—naval recruiting centre on mid-town Drummond Street—and for a short time threatened to spread to the large Drummond Court apartments adjoining until firemen, answering two alarms, mastered it.

UN Plan Would Demilitarize All Of Negev Desert

PARIS, Nov. 13.—(AP)—A Security Council committee approved today a plan apparently intended to demilitarize virtually all of southern Palestine's Negev desert.

Britain, the United States, China, France, Belgium and Colombia supported the plan, submitted by the acting mediator, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche. Russia abstained.

The Negev Desert, originally assigned to the Jews under the United Nations partition plan of a year ago, has been the scene recently of fighting which resulted in Israeli victories over the Egyptians. Count Folke Bernadotte, the assassinated mediator, recommended before his death that the Negev be given to Arab Palestine.

Dr. Philip C. Jessup of the United States was the first member of the seven-member committee to express his approval of today's Bunche plan. Other committee members, except Jacob A. Malik of Russia, said it would provide an "equitable" solution of the tangled situation in the southern desert.

JOHANNESBURG, Nov. 13.—(Reuters)—Existence of uranium has been definitely established at the Blyvooruitzicht gold mine in South Africa, W. Birth Control Group, Catholics in Dispute

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The Planned Parenthood League, which unsuccessfully sponsored a birth control referendum on the recent Massachusetts ballot yesterday asserted Roman Catholic opponents should report for tax purposes the amount spent fighting the measure.

Earlier, Archbishop Richard J. Cushing was quoted by his office as saying opponents of the referendum "had been obliged to spend well over $50,000."

The measure would have permitted doctors to furnish married women with contraceptive information to protect health or life.

Mrs. Walter E. Campbell, president of the Planned Parenthood League of Massachusetts, said the Archbishop's statement "should attract the interest of Federal tax authorities."

The statement, she said, "raises an important question. How does the archdiocese maintain its tax-exempt status when tax laws deny such exemption to groups engaged in influencing legislation?"

Mrs. Campbell said the Planned Parenthood League would report on its expenditures within the required 30 days and that the "grand total will not greatly, if at all, exceed $50,000."

A spokesman for the Archbishop said the money spent opposing the measure was expended by "the committee to oppose the adoption of Referendum No. 4." Frederick W. Mansfield, former mayor of Boston and one-time counsel for the Boston Archdiocese, headed the committee. The money was spent largely for radio, newspaper and other forms of advertising.

Lindbergh Goes To Alaska

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh, special consultant for the United States Air Force, is on his way to Alaska to study operations there, the Air Force announced last night.

Attempted Jail Break Foiled

MONTREAL, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Police said today that Noel Cloutier, one of three men charged with the bank-holdup-murder of two policemen, attempted to break jail early this morning and was knocked unconscious by a prison guard.

The attempted prison break came after police received a tip that plans were being made to free Donald and Douglas Perreault, the other two men awaiting trial on the charge of murdering the policemen.

Acting on the tip, police took five members of a gang into custody. They said the Perreaults had been associated with the gang before their arrest.

Police said the escape plan was double-barrelled.

The imprisoned trio were to do their part and only outside the Bordeaux jail were jo be aided by the five men now held by police.

Air Pioneer Dies

LONDON, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Death of Noel Pemberton-Billing, "British aviation pioneer, inventor, author and former member of parliament, was announced here last night. He was 68.

Devon Has Open House To Mark Store Opening

Northern Alberta's newest "boom town"—the oil hamlet of Devon—held open house Friday evening and the festivities which lasted until Saturday morning were declared the most successful in the community's short-lived history.

Some 2,500 residents of the district were in attendance.

The occasion for the celebration was provided by Larry St. Clair, and associates, when they declared their new hardware and lumber store as the scene of an informal gathering, inviting everybody in the hamlet and district to be their guests.

MODERNIZED STORE

The new hardware and lumber store, to be known as the Delair Hardware and Lumber Company, is a modernized $20,000 shop, possessing the latest utilities, appliances and equipment.

It will be officially declared open for business Dec. 1.

"Why this area will surpass anything on the continent, and Redwater will also be a heavy producing field. Folks down this way don't realize what they have and what surprises me is that opportunities abound and little is being done about them.

"Devon will grow rapidly and in less than 10 years it will be a city of at least 8,000. It really has a future or I don't know anything about this oil business and my 15 years of experience should give me a few qualifications," he concluded.

PLAN 1,000 HOUSES

Several new business buildings are under construction at Devon and plans are under way to construct upwards to 1,000 residences.

Associated with St. Clair are three business partners, Johnny Cornish, Lee St. Clair, and Ken Daniell. Harvey Humphrey is the company's right hand man.

Quebec Tory Chief Raps St. Laurent

MONTREAL, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Ivan Sabourin, Quebec progressive Conservative leader, said last night that Prime Minister Designate St. Laurent's recent declaration that Canada could not remain neutral in another world conflict, was another example of the "usurpation by ministers of the crown of powers and responsibilities which properly belong to parliament."

Alice Returning Home Again

LONDON, Nov. 13.—(Reuters)—Lewis Carrol's original manuscript of "Alice in Wonderland," which has been in the United States for the last 20 years, was returned to England last night. Luther H. Evans, chief Congressional librarian, will present the 86-year-old manuscript to the British Museum. He headed a group of 30 anonymous donors who bought the manuscript for $50,000 when it was auctioned in the United States in 1946.

Socred Ideologies To Come Under Fire

By Ted Horton

First gun in a battle of ideologies within Social Credit ranks is expected to boom at Thorsby on Nov. 17 when R. Earl Ansley MLA for Leduc reports to his local organization.

Annual meeting of the Leduc Social Credit association has been called at Thorsby for 2 p.m.

The call for the convention informs Leduc supporters that "a full report will be made of the acute differences which have arisen in connection with somewhat disturbing policies of the provincial and federal SC parties."

Mr. Ansley was ousted from the portfolio of education when he disagreed sharply with other cabinet ministers on a report prepared by L. D. Byrne, former deputy minister of economic affairs, for the Alberta Social Credit board.

BYRNE OUSTED

As a result of the report which pictured ruination of the world from a combination of socialist, communist, high finance and zionist circles, Mr. Byrne's resignation was requested.

Mr. Ansley was promptly moved to one of the government backbenches.

A. V. Bourcier, then chairman of the Alberta Social Credit board, is the Alberta head of the Douglas Social Credit Council, to which Mr. Ansley has since subscribed.

Speakers at the public meeting, which will follow the afternoon convention at Thorsby, include Mr. Ansley, Mr. Bourcier and William Tomyn, SC member for Willingdon.

REFUSAL

At the time of the 1948 session, Mr. Tomyn intimated to The Bulletin he was not connected with the Douglas Council.

His application for renewal of membership in the Alberta Social Credit League was accepted recently, while Mr. Bourcier's and other members of the council were refused renewal.

Teachers Press For Increased School Grants

Despite an address Wednesday by Education Minister Ivan Casey, who stated that government grants are "at the limit", school board trustees from cities, municipalities and isolated settlements throughout Alberta are continuing to press for more financial aid for education.

In a series of resolutions aimed both directly and indirectly at seeking additional funds for buildozen other items, nearly 250 Alberta School Trustees' Association ing, maintenance, salaries and a convention delegates during the past two days have admitted that present provincial allotments are insufficient in the face of rising costs.

They urged that more money be added to the $800,000 grant the Alberta government has given for province-wide education needs.

EXPLAINS POSITION

Delegates were told by Mr. Casey that government expenditures for education should be based on the needs of various rural districts and areas hard-pressed for facilities and operating expenditures.

"However," he warned, "strenuous efforts must be made in 1949 to level the costs of education."

The minister asserted that salaries were not the only consideration in the current teacher shortage which has depleted the ranks of teachers in Alberta. With nearly 600 vacancies to be filled, Mr. Casey pointed out that in many cases districts with highest salaries had fewest teachers.

"This conversely holds true for areas with the lowest salary scale. Some of them show teaching positions well-filled," he stated.

ELECT HENNIG

Other resolutions passed at the convention included: more funds for improvement of school bus road conditions; government trained teachers qualified to give religious instruction during small part of the school day; provide more qualified librarians and higher salaries.

Delegates elected Rudolph Hennig, Clover Bar School Division, Fort Saskatchewan, president of the ASTA for the ensuing year, succeeding Henry Spencer who retired after a five-year term.

Bitumont Staff Prepare Report For Legislature

Technical staff and board of trustees for the Bitumont oil extraction plant, owned by the provincial government, met Friday to prepare a report on plant activities for the next session of the Alberta legislature.

The meeting reviewed the progress made in the plant and recalled the difficulties during the past season, which included fire and the blocking of a water intake by the shifting sands of the Athabasca river.

Just before the plant closed down for the winter it was learned, however, a successful test run had been made.

Pair Injured In Traffic Smash

A Dapp man and his wife received slight injuries shortly after 8 p.m. Friday when the car in which they were passengers was struck by a Canadian Coachways bus at the intersection of 103 avenue and 105 street.

Driver of the car, Peter J. Harvey, also of Dapp, told police he was proceeding north on 105 street at about 15 miles per hour, approaching the intersection, when he saw the bus coming from his left down 103 avenue.

Resignation Of SC Official Is Asked

VANCOUVER, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Maj. A. H. Jukes, president of the British Columbia Social Credit Association, has requested the resignation of Leslie Wicks, association vice-president, effective today.

Wicks, seneduled to leave tomorrow for a tour of the prairie provinces, said he would not resign office "unless the members in convention show it to be their wish."

"Our president can have no valid reason for requesting my resignation," he said. "Major Jukes has not the power to remove me from office."

Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen will present decorations to 35 airmen in the ceremony starting at 3 p.m.

There are 26 Edmontonians in the group to be honored, including I. N. McKinnon, chairman of the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board. Mr. McKinnon will receive the order of a Member of the British Empire.

Mr. McKinnon was overseas with the RCAF for much of the war and held the rank of wing commander on discharge.

The citation states he "contributed a great deal to the success of the air training plan and his efforts and knowledge of his work has been an inspiration to all."

Distinguished Flying Cross decorations will be awarded to a majority attending the investiture. Several of these are now with North West Air Command units of the RCAF.

Sqdn. Ldr. Harold S. Lissom, who once commanded the famed City of Edmonton Mosquito squadron overseas, receives the DFC as do Flt. Lt. W. L. Dark and Flt. Lt. J. W. Borden.

Restrictions Are Lifted At Clearwater

Restrictions on traffic entering the Clearwater Forest Reserve have been lifted, Hon. N. E. Tanner, Alberta minister of lands and mines, announced today.

Dry weather of the past few months forced the government to ban all traffic into many of the forest areas of the province, but conditions since have made it possible to re-open the Clearwater reserve.

Restrictions remain in force in the southern part of Alberta, Mr. Tanner said. The closed areas there are the Bow River and Crows Nest Forest Reserves.

Why Take It Lying Down?

It is inexplicable that the city officials of Edmonton should meekly and weakly accept the dictum of the Canada Cement Company that Edmonton's cement quota for 1949 must be no more than that of 1948 or even less.

It is incredible that they should take this threat to Edmonton's paving needs lying down.

The reason given by the Canada Cement Company for this quota curtailment, these officials complacently explain, is that such projects as the new runways at the Calgary airport and the hydro development at Spray Lake in Banff national park take priority over improvements to Edmonton's battered streets.

Edmonton should have excellent reasons for hoping that this priority, fixed by the cement company itself, might be altered to allow this city's paving program to proceed according to schedule or beyond it.

One reason is that the expansion of Calgary's airport, if Alberta actually needs a second major airport comparable to that of Edmonton, can be carried on quite adequately with black paving.

At the request of the federal government, competent engineers have proved by experiment that asphalt mixtures can be used to lay runways that will bear the weight and wear of the largest aircraft built.

The hydro project at Spray Lake should not enter into quota calculations for 1949 since, according to the Hon. James A. MacKinnon, this work will require legislation that may not be passed by the federal government until late next summer.

Another reason for hoping for an amendment to this quota, is that the Canada Cement Company is a reasonable and fair-minded organization and surely a strong presentation of Edmonton's case for street and sidewalk paving to remedy a desperate situation could not be ignored.

In any event, the city should not accept this decision as final without making vigorous representations to the highest authority.

Surely the civic administration should apply to the securing of that cement the same resourcefulness, the same energy and the same enterprise that the private business man would apply to securing materials for his own private operations.

Civil Servants Ask Bonus

The 116,000 federal civil servants in this country are entitled to and should have the cost of living bonus they now request.

Specifically, they ask a flat bonus of $31.50 per month to compensate for the rise in the cost of living from 22.8 points from September, 1946, to January, 1948. In addition, they ask a flat bonus of $7.40 a month for each rise of five points in the cost of living index beyond the figure of 148.3 reached January 2 this year.

The salary increases granted to civil servants this Spring were not commensurate with the cost of living increases. At present the purchasing power of civil servants is considerably lower than it was before the war. The salary boosts of this year were equal to 10 per cent while the living costs at that time had risen by more than 26 per cent.

A reasonably paid civil service is essential to civil service efficiency.

The bonus is justified primarily on the grounds of common justice.

It is justified secondarily on the ground that ill-paid public servants lose interest in their work and that the best type of men and women cannot be attracted to the service when it does not pay a living wage.

Canada's public business is too important to be entrusted to cheap labor.

Limitations of the Golden Rule

No Christian will deny that the Golden Rule is an admirable precept for a good life.

But it is not the complete precept for a good life. And the disposition among kindly humanists to pick it out as the sum and substance of the Christian Faith is a gross mistake because one can observe the Golden Rule in all particulars and still be a pagan.

Indeed the Golden Rule can be and is made the centre of that paganry most prevalent in this age, that humanism that takes account of gentle relationships between man and man and takes no account at all of the relationships between man and God.

There is a great deal more to the Christian life than merely doing unto others as you would have them do unto you.

And perhaps there is no finer and more useful amplification of the Golden Rule than that which is found in the 12th chapter of the Epistle to the Romans beginning at the 16th verse.

The relationships between man and man are set forth in that passage in a practical and positive way.

And the key to the entire section is found in the verse which says:

One behaves with consideration towards others, not for the sake of interchange of courtesies, but for the sake of exercising the power of good before which the power of evil is helpless.

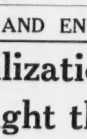
Human love is not sparked by human love. It must come from and be given by God.

ODDS AND ENDS — By Harold L. Weir

Civilization Has Been Bought the Hard Way

Remembrance Day, celebrated last Thursday, is a perpetual memorial to the fact that almost all civilization has been bought the hard way and that those who have fought in wars have paid an appalling share of the price.



WEIR

Since that statement seems to imply, as it does, that wars are necessary, let me hasten to protest that I do not propose to involve myself in any Nietzchean nonsense about war strengthening the moral fibre of nations and tending to develop a finer race of men.

On the contrary, I think that there is very concrete evidence to show that heredity takes a frightful beating when the strongest and bravest and most intelligent, as frequently happens, are left dead on the battlefield some time during almost every generation.

That was evident in England, I think, after the First Great War when the post-war period definitely revealed an emergence of weaker strains, such as the Mediterranean, which had been unwilling or unfit to fight.

I say that wars are necessary not because I believe them to be desirable or admirable or beneficial in any way, but because wherever there is one man or nation eager to rise, there are always two men or two nations devoted to the business of pulling him or it back.

It would be absurd and useless to deny that there are definite forces of retrogression in the world.

The Church would call those forces the positive power of evil and undoubtedly the Church would be right.

But it is enough for our purpose, without becoming theologically entangled, to recognize the existence of a backward pull somewhere among the impulses that govern human life.

I lay emphasis upon this fact because it has become fashionable to attribute all human failure to the purely negative qualities such as lethargy, laziness and indifference and to argue, as in any sickly Alger story, that the road to success, if you can stand another cliche, lies wide open before the man or the society that can conquer sloth.

It is a vicious conception because it is not true.

There is a positive malignity in the world.

That is why men and nations must fight to progress.

Looking Backward

Practically every benefaction that society has conferred upon the world has been opposed, tooth and claw, by the bigoted and the ignorant.

Medical science incurred unspeakable persecutions before it could arrive at the truth about the circulation of the blood and the location in the body of important organs.

In the reign of Edward IV a learned man was publicly hanged for witchcraft because he invented a steam engine.

Not only Christianity, but all the benign religions were hunted and pursued and murdered for teaching doctrines that conflicted with the privileges and inclinations of absolute rulers.

Galileo was locked up for declaring that the earth moved around the sun. His telescope was regarded as black magic.

And the course of human freedom was marked with a trail of blood and sweat and tears for several thousand years before Mr. Churchill employed that telling phrase.

There Was Always War

Much as I would like to think so, I cannot bring myself to believe that struggle and conflict will ever end before civilization is brought to its utmost peak.

Struggle and conflict are part of material life just as they are part of spiritual life.

For that reason, Remembrance Day has a much more profound significance than any occasion for paying sentimental tribute in bromidic eloquence to men and women who have suffered and given their lives in wars.

For these lives have not been wasted as the orators like to say. There has been no wanton outpouring of blood to no purpose.

The defence of civilization is quite as important as the creation of it. And every act of defence has been a part of creation because the repulsion of the backward pull is in itself an advance.

The men and women who were remembered Thursday are men and women who have contributed something of inestimable value not only to this age and this generation and this nation, but to all ages and to all the world.

They have helped to buy civilization in the hard way—which is the only way it can be bought.

PHILPOTT

We newspaper people who got caught flat-footed by the surprising Truman victory are taking it out on the pollsters. One friend urges me to put in my two-bits' worth to have such polls banned, at least just prior to elections. This policy does not appeal to me much. Too arbitrary. Why ban them? Anybody who takes them too seriously from now on deserves to be put in the bobby class.

The Chicago Tribune was not the only paper which made a fool of itself by actually screaming "Dewey elected." The worst caught was the famous British cartoonist Low whose syndicated cartoon got in several papers showing Tom Dewey elected, and Joe Stalin trying to figure that one out.

Life Magazine was in the same boat, only more so. But none of us newspaper people looked as foolish this time as the good old Scotsman's Bible, the Toronto Globe, looked in a now ancient election.

In the years I was an editorial writer on that paper (1928 to 1933), Fred Nash, the make-up man, used to tell this story on himself.

Wrote Two Editorials

On this election night in question the late T. Stewart Lyon, then editor, had had two editorials written on the elections results. One was written as if the Grits had won the other was written as if the Tories had won both articles were in type just waiting for the editor to give the o.k. for Fred Nash to drop the right one into its place. Then away would go the types to the stereotypers, and almost immediately the presses would be rolling out the papers. In those pre-radio days every minute meant money and prestige.

When the election was well enough over to know the result Mr. Lyon gave the nod to Fred Nash and went home.

But in his haste Fred put in both editorials—one after the other—leaving out some other one due to run. He too went home.

The whole province chuckled when the people read the paper. Fred said about Mr. Lyon "It was the only time I ever saw him really mad."

In my time on The Globe the editorials were discussed in advance. We had a conference each day from two to three in the afternoon. The editor in those years was Harry Anderson, described after his death as "the last of the shirt-sleeve editors." Harry rarely wrote anything himself—unless it was a front page double column editorial article. He had a very forceful, clear style. He was what I call a "morse code" writer. That is, he rarely used any other punctuation marks than the dot and dash.

We had four editorial writers in those days whose output usually appeared in this order.

A. A. Mackintosh, later chief editor, who wrote on national matters and economics.

Myself who wrote on international affairs.

Jim Hunter, now editor of the Evangelical Christian, who did social and humanitarian subjects.

The idea of the editorial conference was that controversial subjects were to be discussed before "the line" was finally indicated by the editor. Many were the red-hot arguments we had in the conference room. But certainly in my time no one was ever asked, much less ordered, to write any editorial article in which he disbelieved. For one thing, apart altogether from ethics, The Globe was smart enough to know that in important matters no writer can do convincing work unless he or she does believe in what is written.

"Full Dress"

Harry Anderson had his own technical terms to describe what he wanted. When he said to write a "full dress" article it meant that it was to run to almost the whole length of the first column. If he wanted it specially impressive he said "make it turn the corner." That meant it had to run over into the second column. For medium length articles Harry usually indicated the length he wanted by holding his index fingers apart.

If he said "make it a nugget" it meant one about five inches. A "fragment" meant one as short as could be made under its own heading.

When there was nothing very lively happening it was harder for us to scratch up enough subjects to fill the space. But that gave Harry room to reminisce. He was a past-master at this art — and his long experience at Ottawa and elsewhere had given him plenty of material.

Letters to the Editor

Babies In Austria

Editor, Bulletin—How many of us read the appalling story of the babies in Austria? Mrs. R. T. Vanzer of Toronto saw tiny babies suffering from dysentry, with so few diapers that the poor little things could only be changed three times a day; babies wrapped in newspapers; no ointments, vaseline or powder.

Can we Canadian mothers realize this? I must confess I could not get the sight of these babies out of my mind.

Let's all, every man, woman and child, gladly give even 10c each, and send materials and medicines as quickly as possible, to Safe the Children Fund, and be glad indeed we live in a land of plenty.

Social Credit

Editor, Bulletin—In two letters, Oct. 30 and Nov. 1, H. R. Martin has focussed the attention of your readers on present Alberta political affairs.

In his first letter he objects to an article appearing in McLean's Magazine which proves conclusively, if the statistics quoted are reliable, that there exists in Canada discrimination against one small section of her citizens. It is important to note that this discrimination is the same discrimination that the Nazi forces of Germany fomented with terrible results against the peace of the world. M. H. Martin particularly objects to the article because it links up this despicable discrimination with Douglas Social Credit.

Mr. Truman said in his last speech to his Democratic followers that he is 'confident that when the people know the facts they will do the right thing.'

The tragedy that happened in Alberta on Aug. 17 happened because at that time the people of Alberta did not know the facts. Every Albertan surely knows now that that party which asked for the confidence of the electorate as one harmonious whole was in reality a house divided against itself.

I don't believe that five per cent of the electorate of Alberta realized on Aug. 17 that if the words Social-Credit mean anything they mean something so close to war we recently battled against overseas that no democrat would have dared to support it.

In column 2, page 57, the writter in McLean's gives some of the facts of the case against Social Credit controlled by Douglas in different parts of Canada.

No wonder in the past two years the government of Alberta has been trying to disassociate itself from acknowledged Douglas control.

It is an undeniable fact that nothing calling itself Social Credit' would have been in control of Alberta's affairs today if the two old political parties of Canada had not conspired to work their own political ends by assuming the name 'Social-Credit' as an alias. Apparently these two parties failed to realize that in accepting their temporary new name they were attaching themselves to an organization which in its true manifestation is Fascist.

In the second letter M. H. Martin attempts to discredit Canadian Social Democrats with a totalitarian smear. M.H.M. is overlooking the fact that the two totalitarian forces of Europe worked together for the destruction of democracy in the early years of the war. In spite of all the misstatements about international affairs that were belched out of the Conservative-Social Credit-Douglas machine previous to Aug. 17 I don't believe that their spokesmen really believed that Communists dictatorships were Social Democrats in Europe because they loved them! Communists destroyed Social Democrats because they hate them.

In just two short months after going to the people under false pretences of unity of purpose, the Social Credit coalition has reached the point where it must explain itself.

In Lac Ste. Anne, and elsewhere, in their recent campaign Conservative Social Credit backed Douglas Social Credit. Their problem now is to explain why? to Alberta's confused citizens.

Church Or Bible?

Editor, Bulletin—Great temples, or cathedrals, have been erected throughout the civilized world. Their founders doubtless were inspired more or less to emulate Solomon and Herod in their great temples of the past. No fault need be found with these from such standpoints. All the circumstances being equal, it would be a shame for Christians to meet for Divine worship under conditions inferior to those of their homes. In many instances, however, the people who have donated the money for the erection and upkeep of these buildings have been extremely poor, and have been enjoied into the expenses by misleading sophistries.

In the days of Jesus and the Apostles, it was not considered "Christian work" to raise money for church purposes. Today money-raising is the ideal "work for Jesus." The Apostles taught the real work of the church of Christ, is not to build up costly edifices beyond their means, involving them in debt, but to build themselves up in the most holy faith.

"The Temple of God is holy, which Temple ye are, if so be that the spirit of Christ dwell in you." God's people are the living stones under Divine supervision.

Selling On Sunday

It is disgraceful that all our radio stations allow commercial broadcasting just as blatantly on Sundays as on week days.

Surely this is not necessary. Surely God is entitled to at least one day a week free from "sales talk." The effect of the radio pushing goods on Sunday puts me entirely off the purchase of them and I am sure all other religious people are similarly moved. It definitely does not pay to give "sales talk" on Sundays.

Smiles

"Lend me five dollars, old man," said the first man.

"Lending," said the second man, sententiously, "often spoils friendship, and ours is worth more."

"All right, make it ten."

"Didn't your mother write a note?" asked his teacher.

"Yes ma'am, but I forgot to bring it," replied Willie.

"Well, young man," went on the teacher, "why were you away?"

"I don't know, I didn't read the note."

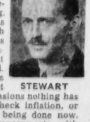
HIGH COST OF LIVING — By Professor Andrew Stewart

Depression and Inflation Always Related

Rising prices reflect spending pressure on the available flow of goods. One approach would be to let inflation take its course.

Attacking the problem from the side of causes, inflation might be checked either by increasing the supply of goods or by reducing the spending.



STEWART

Canada has gone through this period before and Canadians have at least survived. But this does not mean that Canadians would like to buy civilization in the hard way—which is the only way it can be bought.

Responsible governments, with alert electorates, do not ignore inflationary tendencies. In some countries there is little positive restraint and government action actually makes things worse. In these countries inflation gets completely out of hand.

Limit Process

In most countries some deliberate action is built into the process. Many lines of action may be taken. Each form causes irritations somewhere, and the stronger the action taken along any one line the greater the protests.

There is therefore a tendency to do a number of things in a limited way. Inflation is held in check without entirely preventing it.

The condition ultimately cures itself. The actual steps by which the process runs down and finally comes to a stop are difficult to describe. International and political events may bring on a crisis. Apart from this, the main factors are the trend of investment and the flow of consumers' goods.

Private investment is induced by the expectation of profits from the sale of final goods.

The expectation of profits depends on the business man's view of the future, particularly costs and revenues. Fear or lack of confidence may slow down the rate of investment.

Mounting costs, evidence that prices of particular products are beginning to fall, or unsold goods on the shelves, will check investment in some lines. As more building is completed and more equipment created the expectation of profit from further investment declines.

The slowing down of investment spending results in a decline in the aggregate demand for consumers' goods, and the inflation is at an end.

Reverse Periods

Unfortunately, things go into reverse. The period of inflation and activity is followed by a period of falling prices and depression. The same cumulative tendencies are present, in reverse, as operate in the period of activity. The depression extends over a period of time. The two parts of the cycle are related.

The more prolonged and extreme the boom, the more severe and extended the depression is likely to be.

Although experience demonstrates that rising prices come to a stop, there is nothing apparent in the present situation, which would suggest that we are reaching that period in Canada. Investment activity remains high and there are no serious accumulations of stocks of goods.

Even the finance minister, who is certainly better informed than most people, is already out about ten points in his prediction about the cost of living.

This is the sixth in a series of nine articles dealing with the high cost of living, by Professor Andrew Stewart, BSA, MA, Department of Political Economy of the University of Alberta and a director of The Edmonton Bulletin.

By Dick Jackson
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—The learned judges of the Exchequer Court who sit in the marble and granite magnificence of the New Supreme Court Building are bracing themselves for some enlightening, if not particularly edifying reading.

True Confessions Magazine is suing Daring Confessions, Sensational Crime Confessions and Startling Confessions for infringement of its trade-mark.

The trade-mark of the magazine is "confessions," and a counter-suit has been filed protesting that the word is nobody's private copyright-ed property.

FILED AS EXHIBITS

The magazines have been filed as exhibits in the case, and to decide the issue, the court will be reading such title contents as "I Gave My Life to Crime," "Playboy Father," "I've Decided to Kill My Wife," "I am a Jail-Bold," "I Killed to Save Her," "A Killer in Love," and "Ten Thousand Pills." The "pills" in that last story are marijuana cigarettes.

The judges will be forced to read these choice chronicles of crime and passion, as an indirect result of Finance Minister Abbott's dollar-saving program.

To conserve American exchange, Mr. Abbott banned import of confession and crime magazines and some comic-books from the United States.

The ban knocked Fawcett Publications' "True Confessions" out of the Canadian market temporarily, and to fill this void in the crime and passion field, Pastime Publications began printing in Canada their "Daring Confessions", and its newsstand mates "Sensational Crime" and "Startling" confessions.

When the original True Confessions returned to the Canadian market, it found the new upstarts "passing off" its style and content.

STYLE DUPLICATION CLAIMED

In its suit charging infringement of the trade-mark, True Confessions has contended its Canadian rivals not only have copied the lurid reds and greens used to depict its "cover-girls" with their smoking "gats" and blood-dripping knives in hand, but have even duplicated the style and pace of the literature inside.

The Canadian confession (Daring, Sensational Crime and Startling) magazines have indignantly protested they have copied nothing, but have set their own style and pace.

For the battle of confessions, "True" has retained an Ottawa law firm, while "Daring," "Sensational Crime" and "Startling" have shopped in Toronto for legal representation.

Delving into the life and times of gunmen and their molls, dope addicts, passion slayers and sex fiends will be a change of pace for the learned judges of the Exchequer Court who usually concern themselves with nothing more "sensational" than income tax and Crown expropriation award cases.

In screening Communist propaganda pictures, the National Film Board is the helpless and—Secretary Alan Field has stoutly contended—unwilling victim of diplomatic protocol.

Two weeks ago it was disclosed that the Film Board was providing private screenings of pictures opening with photographs, some in color, of Red Marshal Stalin, the Hammer and Sickle and the "happy and well-fed" Russian worker.

FACT CONFIRMED

Mr. Field has confirmed the fact of the screenings, but has reported that "as a matter of official courtesy all properly accredited embassies and legations in Ottawa are permitted the use of National Film Board screening rooms (and technical staff) whenever they request them.

"Official courtesies to embassies of foreign countries are a matter of strict protocol. No department of the Dominion Government would be expected to offer a slight or give offense to the representatives of a foreign government by refusing to extend such courtesies."

Representatives in Canada of foreign governments, including those from countries behind the Iron Curtain, are given this courtesy at the expense of the Dominion Treasury, because the embassies and legations lack their own theatres.

The Russians in two years haven't requested a Film Board "courtesy," but the Soviet satellites, Poland and Yugoslavia have used the free service.

PREPARE OWN LISTS

The Embassies and Legations prepare their own guest lists for these private screenings, and so, Mr. Field has contended, the Film Board "has nothing to do with either the picture or the audience."

The matter of the Film Board holding these private screenings of Red propaganda pictures, first was raised by one of its own employees who reported he was being ostracised by some of his fellow workers for having questioned the propriety of such "courtesies" for Communists.

Now that Prime Minister King finally is stepping off stage, some Liberal members of Parliament drifting through Ottawa in between sessions of the Commons, have been complaining openly that his slow-motion has been handicapping Louis St. Laurent in the race he likely will be running next summer against George Drew.

ISN'T TOO WELL KNOWN

The Liberals report that Mr. St Laurent isn't any too well known 75 miles beyond Ottawa, and the country hasn't been becoming any the more familiar with him while Mr. King has been away overseas stealing Canadian newspaper headlines with news of his illness and retirement plans.

"Plenty of people don't know who St. Laurent is with Mr. King lingering so long," reported a Quebec Liberal MP, "but they do know who George Drew is, with the Progressive Conservatives taking most of the news-page space since the two leadership conventions."

* * *

These same Liberal members have been encouraged by Mr. St. Laurent's quick purloining of an important plank from the Progressive Conservative leadership convention platform, advocating increases in Family Allowance payments without regard for the number of children.

Currently the "Baby Bonus" starts shrinking in large families after the fourth child, and the Liberal members have been overjoyed to hear their leaders echoing the Progressive Conservative demand for payment of the full allowance across the board.

They expect before long that "Uncle Louis" will pry loose from George Drew's platform those planks dealing with old age pensions, big tax slashes and Dominion-Provincial relations; rush them into the East Block for some finishing and present them as Liberal Cabinet "originals."

The Progressive Conservatives urged payment of the old age pension, without a means test at 65 instead of 70.

NEED URGENT

The Progressive Conservatives spoke of the urgent need of more fair and just Dominion-Provincial relations, and already kites have been flying from the East Block about a new deal for the provinces.

Revenue Minister McCann already has chipped a splinter from the tax-cut plank of George Drew's program, hinting in the Algoma by-election of "substantial" reductions soon to be made by Finance Minister Abbott who this year kept rates high, to prevent Canadians "for their own good" from spending themselves into more consumer good shrtages.

New Church Slated For City

Construction will start next spring on a new church at 118 street and Jasper ave.

Fundamental Baptist church paid $2,350 for a double corner lot, it was announced at city land sales offices.

Plans and costs of the new church were not immediately stated.

Erection of a hardware store costing $12,000 will be made on the east side of 124 street south of 115 ave. Site was purchased from the city for $400.

Baptists Plan Anniversary

The Baptists of Edmonton first met as a group in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bellamy on April 29, 1892. There were seven present including Mrs. John Gainer, Douglas Petrie, Charles Alger, K. J. Manson and John Kennedy. A Sunday school was formed by this group to meet in Toboloski hall with K. J. Manson as the first superintendent. The first Women's Missionary Society in Alberta was then organized by Mrs. Gainer, Mrs. Bellamy and Mrs. Beals.

It was not until the following year, 1893, that the First Baptist Church of Edmonton was organized and Rev. Alexander McDonald was called to be the first pastor.

The present church building opposite the Eaton store was opened for worship in November, 1905, under the leadership of the Rev. A. McDonald. The opening services brought to Edmonton Dr. John McNeill of Toronto. Both the hymns and the anthem used at the opening service will be used again at the Anniversary Service Sunday morning.

Dr. Gordon Jones of First Baptist, Calgary, is to be the Anniversary speaker and will give the public lecture on Monday evening following a congregational dinner.

Dr. Jones was senior chaplain to the First Canadian Division in Italy and later to the Second Canadian Corp in France and Germany.

REV. A. B. PATTERSON who announced Saturday that thirty-third Anniversary Services will be held Sunday at the First Church of the Nazarene. Rev. Edward Lawlor, Superintendent of Canada West district, will be the guest preacher in the morning and Dr. Chas. E. Thomson in the evening. Special music and singing at both services.

DR. J. GORDON JONES, OBE. Of Calgary

Revival Drive Starts Tonight

A ten-day revival campaign, at the Salvation Army Citadel, will open tonight at 8 o'clock with a prayer meeting and continue through Sunday morning and evening and every night next week at 8 o'clock.

The weekly meetings will be addressed by Rev. Floyd Coxson of the Free Methodist Church, Rev. T. Elgar Roberts of Bonnie Doon Baptist Church, and Brigadier and Mrs. R. Raymer of the Salvation Army.

Adjutant Charles H. Stewart of Vermilion, president of Vermilion Ministerial Association and director of Vermilion 'Youth For Christ, will be the guest speaker November 20, 21 and 22.

Documents about ancient India show that in the year 2,000 BC, soldiers fought with primitive flame weapons.

GEMS FROM SWEDENBORG:
The love of uses is charity. It is the Lord from whom it proceeds, and the neighbor is the object whither it is directed. Use consists in a person's fulfilling his duty, and acting in his employment uprightly, faithfully, sincerely, and justly. Uses do not become uses of charity with any but those who fight against evils which are from hell. Uses that have a man's own good for their primary and ultimate end are not uses of charity.

Gen. Eisenhower Gets Overruled

Decision Changed For Only Time During War

General Mark W. Clark, who had come to England as commander of the II Corps. He was a relatively young man but an extremely able professional, with a faculty for picking fine assistants and for developing a high morale within his staff. During the planning stages of Torch, General Clark acted as deputy and, until the arrival of General Smith in early September, as chief of staff. More than any other one persons, Clark was responsible for the effective co-ordination of detail achieved in this, the first Allied plan for amphibious attack in the Mediterranean.

POINTS OF ATTACK

From the first it was clear that Oran and Algiers must be attacked under any plan of operation. Both were important ports and the airfields near Oran were essential for later operations, particularly for short-range fighter aircraft from Gibraltar to front lines, wherever they might happen to be. Algiers, of course, was the center of political, economic, and military activity in the area.

Fixing the flanks of the assault, then, was what we had to decide. In the one case we could attack Casablanca, Oran, and Algiers; in the other, Oran, Algiers, and Bone.

Over this question we studied long and earnestly. I came to favor, personally, taking the entire force inside the Mediterranean. I believed that Tunis was so great a prize that we should land initially as far east as Bone.

Admittedly, to pass inside the Mediterranean without establishing a base at Casablanco involved additional hazard, but I felt that as long as we are risking so much we might a well put all our chips on one number with the idea that Casablanca, when cut off from the eastward, would either fall of its own weight or could be captured by column moving back down the railway from Oran. I was influenced also by the desire to avoid the very great natural hazards involved in landing at Casablanca.

CHIEFS CHANGE PLANS

We communicated this scheme to the Combined Chiefs of Staff and found that the United States Chiefs of Staff were opposed to omitting Casablanca from the original attack plan. They were of the belief that the risks involved in depending entirely upon the Strait of Gibraltar for a line of communications were too great and that, in spite of the limited capacity of the Casablanca-Oran railway, we must quickly secure it as partial insurance against possible Axis attempts against the Gibraltar bottleneck. Moreover, they believed that unless a strong force landed instantly in Morocco the Spanish would be much more inclined to enter the war or to permit the Germans to use Spain as an avenue of attack on our rear.

As far as I can recall, this was the only instance in the war when any part of one of our proposed operational plans was changed by intervention of higher authority. We cheerfully accepted the decision because the governing considerations were political more than tactical, and political estimates are the function of governments, not of soldiers. However, we did point out that the early capture of Tunis was, by this decision, removed from the realm of the probable to the remotely possible.

I notified General Marshall of my desire to have General Patton command the Casablanca expedition and within a short time George reported to me in London, where he was thoroughly briefed on his portion of the plan. Hardly had he returned to Washington before I received a message stating that he had become embroiled in such a distressing argument with the Navy Department that serious thought was being given to his relief from command.

Feeling certain that the difficulty, whatever its nature, was nothing mare than the result of a bit of George's flair for the dramatic, I protested at once, suggesting that if his personality was causing any difficulty in conferences the issue could be met by sending him out with his troops and allowing some staff member to represent him in the completion of planning details. In any event the matter was passed over.

From the inception of the invasion project, our governments carefully considered the possibility of including General de Gaulle, then in London, in Torch planning. Units under his command had taken part in the ill-fated Dakar expedition, where the attacking forces had to retire in confusion in the face of local French resistance. The British always believed that this fiasco resulted from leaks in de Gaulle's London headquarters.

DE GAULLE OUTSIDE

Our instructions from the two governments, possibly colored by this unfortunate early experience, were to the effect that under no circumstances was any information concerning the proposed expedition to be communicated to General de Gaulle.

There was confirmation of the assumption that General de Gaulle's presence in the initial assaulting forces would incite determined opposition on the part of the French garrison. During the course of our planning in London a constant stream of information came to us from consuls and other officials whom our State Department maintained in Africa throughout the war.

All of this information was to the effect that in the regular officer corps of the French Army, de Gaulle was, at that time, considered a disloyal soldier. His standing with the resistance elements of the civil population was vastly different. But at that moment resistance elements, particularly in Africa, were inarticulate and ineffective—and we had to win over the armed services as a first objective.

SURPRISE NEEDED

This was a complicated and hazy situation, but keeping the expedition entirely secret from the French in London was the fixed policy of the Allied governments. An added and most important motive in doing no was the fact that only through perfect surprise could the expedition succeed. The fewer people who knew anything at all about the matter the better.

After some six weeks of intensive planning we were notified that Mr. Robert D. Murphy, the senior American State Department officer in North Africa, would pay us a secret visit to discuss with us the political implications and possibilities in that region.

Mr. Murphy, who had long been stationed in Africa, was early taken into the confidence of the Presideht of the United States and informed of the possibility of military action in that region. With his staff of assistants he not only conducted a continuing survey of public opinion, but he did his best to discover among the military and political leaders those individuals who were definitely hostile to the Axis and occupying their posts merely out of a sense of duty to France.

Affable, friendly, exceedingly shrewd, and speaking French capably, he was admirably suited for his task. Unquestionably his missionary work between 1940 and late 1942 had much to do with eventual success.

SECRET TRIP

His trip to my headquarters in London, in the fall of 1942, was conducted in the greatest secrecy. In Washington, where he went first, he was placed in uniform, given a fictional commission as lieutenant colonel, and came to see me under the name of McGowan. I met him at a rendezvous outside the city and within a matter of 24 hours he was again on the way to Washington.

In the early fall Admiral Ramsay was relieved by the British Chiefs of Staff as the naval commander of the expedition and in his place was assigned Admiral Sir Andrew B. Cunningham, whom I then met for the first time. He was the Nelsonian type of admiral. He believed that ships went to sea in order to find and destroy the enemy. He thought always in terms of attack, never of defense. He was vigorous, hardy, intelligent, and straightforward.

REAL SEA DOG

In spite of his toughness, the degree of affection in which he was held by all grades and ranks of the British Navy and, to a large extent, the other services, both British and American, was nothing short of remarkable. He was a real sea dog. There will always live with me his answer when I asked him in the fall of 1943 to send the British battle fleet, carrying a division of soldiers, into Taranto Harbor, known to be filled with mines and treachery.

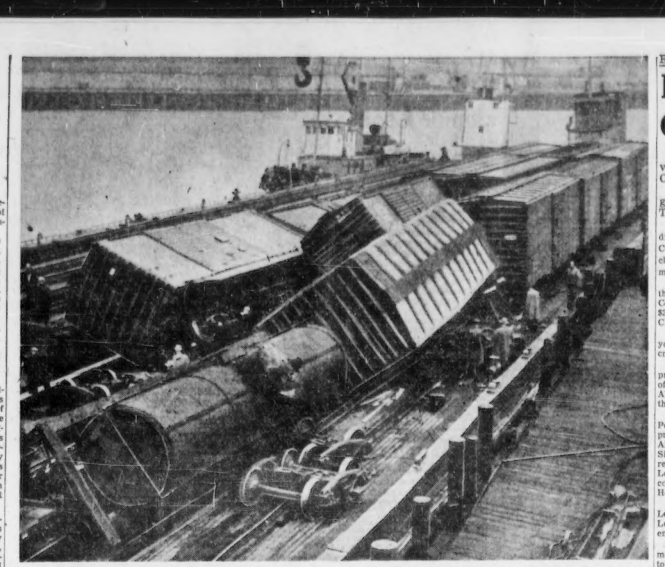
"Sir," he said, "His Majesty's Fleet is here to go wherever you may send it!"

We had to co-ordinate our plans not only with the British but also with the United States Navy. This was by no means simple, and it required a great many conferences. Two of the Navy's capable officers had been assigned by Admiral King to assist in planning, and they were welcomed by Brigadier General Alfred M. Gruenther, chief American planner, with the statement that there were a thousand questions the Navy could help answer, "We are here only to listen," was their answer. Later on that if I could talk personally to Admiral King there would be no difficulty, but under the circumstances these snarls had to be worked out with care and patience.

Nothing more could now be done in London. It was a relief to look up a desk. To account for my absence from London an elaborate story was circulated that I was making a visit to Washington. Even the President helped out in this particular deception. Actually we took off for Gibraltar, in a flight of five Fortresses, on November 5, 1942.

One of the mysteries of World War II has been the role played in "Torch," the Allied invasion of North Africa, by General Henri Giraud, the French leader who was smuggled out of Europe by submarine to help win over the French in Algiers. Giraud lasted in the headlines at that time for only a few days, with Admiral Darlan and other Vichy French officers taking the limelight away from him.

General Eisenhower tells this story for the first time in the sixth installment of "Crusade in Europe," which will be published here Monday. It includes his first meeting with General Giraud, in one of the subterranean passages hollowed out of the Rock of Gibraltar, which General Eisenhower calls "one of my most distressing interviews of the war."



"SURVIVORS" LIE OVERTURNED or tilted aboard this railroad barge after five freight cars went overboard during storm off Port Angeles in northern Puget Sound. All loaded with wood pulp, the five "shipjumpers" broke free from chains lashing them on deck. In water 36 feet deep, they may be salvaged.

Stamps Drub Disorganized Saskatoon Machine 10-2

CALGARY, Nov. 13. — (CP) — Scoring almost at will against a disorganized defence, Calgary Stampeders Friday night drubbed Saskatoon Quakers 10-2 in a Western Canada Hockey league fixture before more than 5,000 fans.

Calgary marksmen fattened their scoring averages by a total of 21 points during the contest that sent them into a third place tie with the idle Lethbridge Maple Leafs. Stamps and Leafs now have nine points in the standings, five less than second place Edmonton Flyers.

GOAL BY GOAL

Stamps went into the lead in the first minute of play and never relinquished it. They led 3-0 at the end of the first frame, added four more in the second and outscored Quakers 3-2 in the final frame.

Butch McDonald paced the Calgary attack with three goals and a pair of assists, while Johnny Millard and veteran Dunc Grant each picked up four points on a brace of goals and the same number of assists apiece. Stan Devlcq, Bud Emery and Bob Ballance each scored single tallies for Stamps. Saskatoon marksmen were Reg Bentley and Jackie O'Hara.

QUAKERS UNORGANIZED

Except for a brief Saskatoon flurry in the third period, Stampeders dominated play through. Although trying hard all the way, Quaker forwards never seemed able to get organized and mainly resorted to individual sorties on the Calgary goal. Meanwhile a shaky Quaker defence repeatedly allowed the shifty Calgary forwards to break right in on top of goalie Ken Hopper, giving him little chance to save.

O'Hara spoiled goalie Russ Dertell's hopes of a shutout at the 6:47 mark in the final period when he banged home Les Strongman's pass from eight feet out. Poor Calgary clearing set up the marker scored with both clubs playing a man short. Less than three minutes later Reg Bentley finished the Quaker scoring with a bullet like drive from 12 feet out that caught the top right-hand corner.

MOREY RIMSTAD . . . Back in form(?)

Smitten Heads Flyer 'Minute-Men'

It's one thing to score goals in a wide open, free style hockey engagement. It's something else again to turn on that light when the going is rougher and goals come hard.

That's why Morey Rimstad, Alex Pringle and Freddy Smiten, the last named particularly, will be the white-haired boys in the Flyer camp as the Edmonton aggregation heads homewards across the prairies today.

Rimstad, Pringle and Smiten each accounted for a marker as Flyers edged the haughty Regina Caps by 3-2 in the Saskatchewan capital Friday night. Smitten got the winner—by his lonesome—late in the game. The triumph more than atoned for the 7-6 decision dropped to the Caps earlier in the week. Flyers 'blew' a 6-2 lead in this one.

TWO-FOR-THREE RECORD

Last night's conquest of the Queen City mob also provided the Allan Cup kings with a two-for-three record on the road. Between jousts with the Capitals the Edmonton entry in the WCHL accounted for Saskatoon Quakers, the league's soft touch going under by 12-3.

As a matter of fact Flyers take on the Quakers at the Arena Monday night. At Calgary Friday the Hub City crew, now managed by Bill Hunter, provided another of their inept performances, being knocked off by the Stampeders in 10-2 fashion.

QUAKERS 9th LOSS

It was the ninth setback in 10 starts for Saskatoon. The Quakers tangle with Lethbridge Maple Leafs tonight at Lethbridge. From the looks of it manager Hunter will settle for just getting his boys back to Saskatoon alive, whatever about winning a game.

Monday's threatened Arena landslide starts at 8:30 p.m.

Neither Bernie Bathgate nor Bing Merluk, Flyer regulars, were in the line-up at Regina last night. Both are sidelined by injuries.

Ken McAuley Quits Hockey

The rumor has become a fact. Friday Ken McAuley, former Flyer netminder and with Saskatoon Quakers for the past while, confirmed that he "is through" with hockey. A recent head injury suffered in a game against Regina Caps, precipitated his decision.

BACK IN EDMONTON

McAuley, back in the city at the present time, spoke regretfully of the tough break that has come his way. "I'll miss it," he admitted. "However the doctors have told me it's for the best." While playing with Regina Rangers in the 1940-41 season McAuley suffered a previous head injury.

A product of the Maple Leaf organization (the popular puck-blocker achieved an ambition when he played with New York Rangers in the NHL during two of the war years. Rangers didn't have much of a club but it was the 'big leagues' just the same.

FUTURE UNDECIDED

McAuley expects to return to Saskatoon in a couple of weeks, is undecided as to future plans after that.

He was accompanied to Edmonton by his wife, the former Millie Warwick, sister of Grant Warwick, presently pacing the NHL in the point parade.

Eyes of rabbits have fields of vision which overlap behind their heads. With this arrangement they can see an enemy approaching from the rear, without turning their heads.

Fred Smitten's Late Tally Shades Regina

Flyers Triumph 3-2 To Creep Up On League-Leading Caps

REGINA, Nov. 13—(CP)—Edmonton Flyers moved within two points of the league-leading Regina Caps in the Western Canada Hockey league Friday night by defeating the latter club 3-2 in a closely-fought game.

It was Edmonton's second win in three games of its current road trip and was watched by a crowd of about 4,700. Flyers took a 1-0 lead in the first period, stayed ahead 2-1 in the second and retained the slight lead in the final period.

Morey Rimstad's first period goal spelt the margin of victory. Alex Pringle kept the Flyers ahead in the second period and Freddy Smiten tallied in the final session to off set the pressing Regina club's forays.

Mel Hill came through in the mid-frame with Regina's first goal and Bill Kyle scored the other in the third period.

TIGHT GAME

The one-goal difference in the final score indicated the difference between the two teams throughout most of the game. Edmonton broke the scoreless deadlock at the 7:56 mark when Rimstad grabbed Colin Kilburn's relay from about 10 feet out and moved in on Bev Bentley in Regina's net, drew him out of position and scored easily.

Regina pressed for the remainder of the session but Flyers' defence stayed firm. The second period was less than two minutes old when Pringle put Edmonton two goals ahead, his eight-foot angle shot giving Bentley no chance.

Regina bounced back but Edmonton parried their thrusts until Hill came through with a long back-hander that gave Keith Woodall no opportunity to save.

CAPS ON THE MARCH

The league-leaders appeared on the way to victory early in the third when Bill Kyle came through with a goal on a double relay from Red Tilson and Sib McDougall, each team being a man short at the time.

Gus Kyle and Pringle were off, the latter having drawn a major for throwing his stick.

Play then continued on even terms until Smitten came through at 15:18. He grabbed a loose puck and beat Bentley cleanly with a shot to the far corner.

In the dying minutes of the game Regina, desperate for the tying marker, yanked Bentley but hurriedly returned him to the net when a face-off was called in Caps' end.

Question Is: How Silly Can NHL Team Leaders Get?

MONTREAL, Nov. 13.—(CP)—And now comes the ankle bodycheck in hockey, nurtured to perfection with a flourish of applied psychology.

The new secret weapon, said boss Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens Friday, is the sole property of Toronto Maple Leafs.

With studied poker face, Selke claimed he saw the new play himself—at Maple Leaf Gardens last Saturday. The unsuspecting victims were New York Rangers.

"I had suspicions of it when Leafs played here," intoned Selke. "Then it burst right out in the open at Toronto. Why the Leafs are pulling it, I don't know. They won two championships with their patented wrestling clutch There's no need for any publicity bid. Our rink and the others are turning away thousands for every game."

"Execution of the play calls for utmost cleverness," said Selke. "Nothing is so crude as a stick shoved between a player's skates." Seems the ankle bodycheck is achieved by suddenly and slyly sticking out a foot.

The result is startling. The player goes flying through space. The recipient's uselessness for further play is increased by minutes, hours or even days, depending upon ingenuity of execution.

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Conn Smythe, manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, said Friday night he had never heard of the "ankle bodycheck" described by boss Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens as Leafs' secret weapon.

"If we've been using that technique it hasn't been very successful," Smythe said. "The way we're going we better get rid of it right away."

What Beats A Royal Flush?

Does it seem the pinnacle of alibing to blame the playing of a poker game for the loss of a Dominion east-west football final?

Possibly.

BOB FRITZ

But back in December 1936 those in the know were whispering that a session of trying to draw to inside straights and otherwise tempting the fates, was responsible more than anything else for the 4-3 defeat suffered by coach Bob Fritz' Winnipeg Blue Bombers at the hands of Toronto Argos.

Of course this was no ordinary session with the pasteboards. The Bombers had gone to Ann Arbor, hard by Detroit, to get in their final training licks. They were quartered in the Michigan college centre for a week to 10 days.

That was how long the poker game lasted.

Between football workouts the Bombers, at least certain key operators, spent their time in pursuit of the elusive ace-in-the-hole. Individual losses ranged as high as $700.

Not only did wind and legs suffer from these prolonged stints at the card table but as well, feelings became frayed. The Bombers—so the story goes—presented anything but a united front that December day in Toronto when it finally came time to meet up with Argos.

★ ★ ★ ★

But Who's Going To Ask Him?

Some time at the week-end it should be possible to verify or give the lie to this story that has been passed along through the years.

Why?

It will be remembered that following a prolonged hitch at Winnipeg Fritz switched camps and took charge of the hastily assembled Edmonton Eskimo entry in the Western Conference to start the 1938 season. He was still at the helm when that none too conclusive chapter in Edmonton's grid history closed out a year later.

Gelhaye, a surprisingly agile 300-pound mountain of a linesman, also was part of the Booster Club-sponsored Eskimo cast.

The Esks despite the heroics of Fritz, Gelhaye, Eddie O'Brien, the late Harold Sutton, Stu Hart, Ernie Stevens and a few others who belonged, had a tough time winning in the swift Conference.

At that, they had one wonderful week-end, turning back Winnipeg and Regina on successive appearances, just 48 hours apart.

It's No More Than A Visit

Anticipated visit (and that's apparently all it is) of Minnesotans Fritz and Gelhaye is timely indeed. At the moment interest in, and speculation relative to, this city's possible re-entry into the Western Conference is greater than at any time since the fold-up of the Esks a decade ago.

One reason for this mounting interest is the sensational success enjoyed by Les Lear's brand new Western champion Calgary Stampeders. A second is the fact that football has come alive again in the high schools. Many of those, who, just a few short weeks ago, scoffed at the idea of an Edmonton team in the Conference, have come around to suggesting that, "at least we should look into it."

There's a good chance that a spot of "looking into it" will be indulged in not later than Tuesday night of next week. A group of local sportsmen, headed by Bob Bradburn, is planning a dinner as an extra special welcome to Fritz and his huge pal.

It's 1-10 the post-dinner chatter will be almost entirely devoted to the gridiron game, with particular emphasis on what is required to make things hum once more in this vicinity.

And who knows? Something could come of it.

'Hot' Coach Lets Off Steam At Officials

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Charlie Conacher brought his Chicago Black Hawks into town Friday and lost no time telling the world that he thought his team got the worst of the officialing when they dropped a 4-1 decision to Canadiens in Montreal Thursday night.

"We had two goals disallowed by Butch Keeling," said the coach of the National Hockey league doormats. "The first would have tied the score. The second would have put us in front. Our players skated back to centre ice for the face-off and then realized Keeling had disallowed both.

"That was bad enough but in the third period when the big blow-off came and all the players were into it, the action was started by Butch Bouchard of Canadiens, yet when it was all over he didn't get a penalty, but we got two and Canadiens got only one."

Big Chuck said he "told Keeling plenty and it's a wonder he didn't put me out of the rink." Clarence Campbell, league president, was a spectator and "I told him what I thought about his officials."

Trail, Kimberley In Overtime Tie

TRAIL, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Trail Smoke-Eaters and Kimberley Dynamiters battled to a 6-6 overtime draw in an action-packed Western International Hockey league encounter Friday night.

Smokies tied it at the half-way mark in the third period and then forged ahead when Frank Turik tallied with less than a minute to go. Four seconds from the bell Kimberley rear-guard Bill Johnston scored to send the game into overtime.

Both clubs broke through for scoring chances in the extra session but goalies Sam Quigley of Dynamiters and Duke Scodellaro of Trail came up with brilliant saves.

Calgary Gridders Return To Grind

CALGARY, Nov. 13 — (CP) — Calgary Stampeders, newly-crowned western Canada football champions, will not rest on their laurels. Club officials disclosed Friday night that the team will resume practice drills today.

The announcement meant the players are having only one day of rest following their smashing 17-6 triumph over Saskatchewan Roughriders in the final game of the western playoffs.

"We are taking no chances," coach Les Lear said as he ordered the club back to their drills. "This is going to be the best conditioned team that ever represented western Canada in a Grey Cup final.

"We have come a long way and we aren't going to spoil things by taking it too easy now.

While Stamps return to rigid training, Lear and the Stampeder executive will go into a huddle to map their program leading to the Grey final scheduled in eastern Canada Nov. 27.

Still not decided is whether the team will complete its training in the east or remain at home poised for a quick hop east for the final. Officials said both ideas are under consideration.

Meteors, RCMP Cop Senior Cage Openers

Waterloo Tops YMCA 53-43; Mounties Subdue LDS 63-46

It was just plain snowing outside. But inside the RCMP gymnasium Friday night it was snowing basketballs as the City Senior Men's cage season got underway.

Waterloo Meteors and YMCA Toilers pried off the lid before a steadily increasing crowd that eventually overflowed the small gym. The Comets finished on the long end of a 53-43 total.

In the second of two games the RCMP five made a successful debut when they swamped Latter Day Saints 63-46.

Toilers opened in a hurry and soon Ron Chapman, six foot, four inch blond sniper, had dropped a free throw and the season's first basket for a 3-0 lead.

METEORS TAKE OVER

The Meteors soon took over, however, and in short order had grabbed off a 7-3 lead. They increased their advantage through the rest of the first half and had a comfortable 27-13 edge at the breather.

During the second half Toilers enjoyed the edge, out-punching the opposition 30-26. However the damage had been done.

Battle as they would, Toilers just couldn't overcome the first half advantage of the Mets. Pre-season dope had Meteors as the strongest club in the league.

Steve Mendryk, better known as a smart football performer, also showed brains on the hardwood as he led his mates with 17 points, high for the game. Next in line was another footballer Gord Pearce, who piled up 11 points, one more than Don Blue who carried Comet's early setback.

Guy Cabilt, a carryover from last year's provincial junior champion Toilers (the whole club turned senior this season as a matter of fact), topped the Y team with 14 points. Chapman was next in line with 13.

The second game was a thriller to halftime which showed the Mounties up 28-26.

HARD-FOUGHT BATTLE

LDS battled hard through the first two quarters and at one time held a five-point advantage only to see it it dissolve before a determined police attack.

In the second half RCMP continued on their horses, outscoring the Saints by 35 to 20.

Roy Girling, junior star from Vancouver's King Edward High school, led the redcoats with 16 points. Dale Main gave him plenty of assistance with 11 counters while boss Geoff Mortimer turned in nine points for the RCMP. The RCMP club got at least two points. Ted Brewerton sparked the LDS five with 15 points.

FIRST GAME

Y Toilers—Woodman (7), Loucks (1), Savage (2), Kerr (2), Chapman (13), Martin (4), Cubitt (14), Chapman (13), Drever (2). Total (63).

26-YEAR-OLD WORLD TURF RECORD BROKEN

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 13.—(CP)—A 26-year-old world record was broken and two track marks were bettered at the windup of the fall meeting at Pimlico Friday.

Miss Grillo broke the world standard for 2½ miles as she drove to a 1½-length victory in the $25,000 added Pimlico Cup race.

The Mill River stable's mare was clocked in 4:14 3-5 for the longest stake event in the United States.

Mrs. E. Dupont Weir's Royal Governor, carrying 114 pounds, was the winner of the fifth race in 1:42 2-5—one-fifth of a second faster than the previous track mark for 1 1-16 miles.

Brookmeade stable's Chains lowered the mile and a furlong mark by the same amount. In all, seven track records were set during the 13-day meeting, one of the old marks dating back 37 years.

They Play It Rough And Tough In East

HALIFAX, Nov. 13.—(CP)—When centreman Roy (Buck) Whitlock of Moncton Hawks put the slug on referee Burt Sloop while playing Dartmouth Arrows Oct. 25, he ushered in one of the roughest, knock-down-drag-out seasons in Maritime hockey annals.

Today, two players had served light suspensions, two referees had shifted to other leagues and the highly controversial right of teams to select their home referees had been established in the Maritime Senior Hockey league—over the loud opposition of sports writers and cartoonists.

THREE-GAME SUSPENSION

For stepping out of line, Whitlock drew a three-game suspension from league president J. Elliott Hudson. Adequacy of the suspension was questioned by just about everybody not on Hawks' side of the fence, but three games it remained.

Little more than a week after Whitlock's banishment, Eddie Sorel, Arrows' right-winger, softened the ice in Halifax Forum with some overheated dialect during another Big Four game between Dartmouth and Halifax St. Mary's.

Unfortunately, Sorel directed his flow of invective at a referee. After the two officials—Reg Beazley of Dartmouth and Hughie Gillis of Halifax—filed reports, Sorel got the bounce for three games.

Up to Nov. 5, North Sydney Victorias had collected 129 minutes in penalties. They were awarded 86 minutes in one night—eight majors and seven misconducts, an all-time record.

155 PENALTIES

In 16 games up until Nov. 4—and they are still at it—Big Four teams had been penalized 155 times —372 minutes.

One Maritime sports writer—Alex Nickerson—referred to the referee situation by saying:

"It is amazing that such a situation should exist in a shamateur hockey league which costs almost as much to operate as a professional circuit of the calibre of the American Hockey league."

EXPERT DOESN'T TRUST HIMSELF

BALTIMORE, Nov. 13—(AP)—Handicapper Snowden Carter had a rare day at Pimlico Friday, picking all eight winners in his selections for the Baltimore Sun.

A $2 parlay on the eight races would have returned $3,025. Carter reported he lost $4 on his actual bets.

Fritz, Gelhaye Here at Week-End

Remember Bob Fritz and Gordon Gelhaye, each a headliner on the Eskimos of the Western Conference in 1939? The word is that the pair will be in Edmonton at the week-end. They are coming on from their homes in Minnesota (Fritz of Moorhead, Gelhaye of Shakopee) mostly to renew acquaintances hereabouts.

In this connection it has been decided to give anyone wishing to again say "howdy" to the pair every opportunity. With Bob Bradburn in the role of organizer a public dinner is on tap at the Edmonton Club for Tuesday.

Those who would like to go are asked to get in touch with Bradburn or The Bulletin sports department. The dinner will be on an everyone welcome basis, each man pay his own shot. Deadline for "enries" is 9:00 a.m. Tuesday.

Juniors Plan Gala Openi[illegible] Tonight

"TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT", says Earl Samis, referring to the grand opening of the City Junior Hockey League at the Arena. Samis and other loop officials have been working overtime of late, laying finishing touches to what they are confident will be a colorful opening. JUNIORS GET $4,000 FROM FAIR BOARD

Now it's official . . . each team in the Junior Hockey league is to come into a grant of $1,000 from the Exhibition Association. Following a meeting of the Exhibition group, held Friday, it was announced that EAC, Maple Leafs, South Side and Canadians are to be recipients of the windfall.

This follows a practice established last season, when the 'howl' for Sunday junior hockey became so strong.

At the same time it was announced that the Exhibition Association will proceed with plans to lay a basketball floor in the Stock Pavilion at the first opportunity. Only the fact that a special type of nail required is holding up the start on a floor expected to cost upwards of $1,100.

MacDonald-Wouters To Clash at Coast

VANCOUVER, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Western Canada middleweight boxing champion, Roddy MacDonald of Edmonton will meet rugged Roy Wouters of Montreal in a title fight here next month.

Announcing the fight, local promoter Al Principe said arrangements have been completed but the date is not definite.

(MacDonald meets Eddie Halligan, Spokane, at the Stock Pavilion here, Nov. 19.)

More Night Games

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 13.—(BUP)—St. Louis Browns Friday revealed they will ask the major leagues to permit an unlimited number of night games.

Munro Resigns As Sons' Coach

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Nov. 13.—(CP)—Scotty Munro, coach of Lethbridge Native Sons since September, 1947, has resigned and his resignation has been accepted, it was announced here Friday night. The Sons are in the Western Canada Junior Hockey league.

The '900' of 5-Pin Bowling Form Highly Select Group

Edmonton, too, has a 'circle', also famous in its own right. And it is almost as tough to crack as Manhattan's 'club' of money-bags.

Of what are we mumbling? Why, the Edmonton Five-Pin Bowling association's 900 circle, of course. And brother, it takes plenty of skill, and some luck, to become a full-fledged member.

The 900 or better represents your total score for three consecutive strings in league play. It's the ambition of almost every maple-spreader to boast membership.

Object of the Five-Pin body is to really put the circle across this season. The three game mark was hit upon during the 1945 season. It hasn't cut much ice until this year, however.

There was a day, and not so long ago, that bowlers pointed with pride at 700 triples. Then it was 800. Now it's 900-or-bust for almost everyone at the alleys.

There's also a lot of chatter around the five-pin table of forming a 1,000 circle for men and a 900 group for the ladies. Jim Rutherford, congenial president, brought back this suggestion from the Western Canada association confab last spring.

If such a group is formed on the prairies, the western body will put up a suitable award for those attaining these lofty scores. A pin and ball, along the lines of the award given golfers when they fire a hole-in-one, would be suitable.

★ ★ ★

The local 1948-49 season has opened with a bang, with six trundlers already bragging about 900 marks . . . They are Eddie Oberg, Eddie Beckwith, Rutherford, Harris Boucher, Ralph Jones and George Shaw . . . None of the so-called "weaker sex" has made the grade, but several have been knocking . . . Isobelle Giffen posted 899, only a king-pin from fame . . . Alice Hodgins has come up with 865 and Alice Johnston and Marie Sangster also have come close . . . Vern Mohs has rolled the most 900 strings, just how many is not known.

★ ★ ★

If (and when) Edmonton bowlers overcome those last minute heebie-jeebies and succeed in rolling a perfect 450 game, extra spoils will go their way . . . In addition to the $50 put up by the Rec, the Brunswick Balke-Collender company will give gold lapel pins to the ladies and a medal and chain to the gents, according to Mamie McNab, secretary of the Five-Pin association . . . These games, of course, must be in regular league or play-off games.

Fish, Game League To Meet Tuesday

Pact Aiming For Canadian, U.S. Support

LONDON, Nov. 13—(AP)—Plans for a north Atlantic defence pact calling for Canadian and United States military support if western Europe is attacked moved swiftly ahead today.

The permanent committee of the Brussels pact powers—Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—met in secrecy to draft an alliance proposal which they hoped would be acceptable to Canada and the United States.

FORRESTAL ARRIVES

Defence Secretary James Forrestal of the United States arrived from Paris for conferences with Prime Minister Attlee and American military representatives.

Persistent reports circulated in diplomatic circles that Foreign Minister Bevin will attend a trans-Atlantic pact conference which Washington sources predict will write the final text of the treaty before Christmas in the United States capital.

In Paris a French foreign ministry spokesman said France and Belgium have offered drafts of a proposed alliance. The French proposal would bind the United States to defend western Europe for 50 years. A committee of all powers of the alliance would consult on the day of an attack, and decide the nature of aid.

The problem of the western European pact writers is to find a draft suitable to Canada and the United States.

OTHER "POSSIBLES"

United States state department officials in Washington said Thursday that Italy, Portugal, Denmark, Norway and Iceland might eventually be included in the pact.

Forrestal officially is studying United States military establishments on his flying European tour but there is no doubt the entire problem of western European defence also is being discussed.

Maintaining Unity In War Proudest Life Work—King

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King yesterday declared that the proudest parts of his public life were "the things that had to do with keeping this nation united through the war."

At a press conference after he had said goodbye to his cabinet, a reporter asked the prime minister which was the greatest moment of his many years in office—"the golden moment."

"I have never thought of any particular moment," Mr. King replied. He hesitated and then, speaking with obvious feeling, referred to the war years.

"All Canada's contribution was basically dependent on keeping this nation united," he declared. "I feel our policies were right—I feel the government's policies have been fully vindicated over the years."

SMILE WORTH $1,000 TO HIM

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Robert Petley, 25, is wearing a $1,000 smile today.

It's all because he had the smile and a friendly word for an elderly shoestring and pencil peddler during the last 2½ years, his friends say.

The peddler cashed some war bonds Wednesday and presented the astonished Petley, a parking lot attendant, with $1,000 in cash. Petley doesn't even know his benefactor's name.

China Air Force Abandons Plan To Fly Mosquitos

SHANGHAI, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The $2,000,000 China air force "Mosquito bomber" program will be abandoned Monday without ever having done much damage to the Chinese Communists.

Fred Offord, De Havilland test pilot from Annapolis Valley, N.S., and eight other De Havilland personnel have been ordered home.

Offord said Chinese pilots simply were not ready "for such hot airplanes and there is no place in this war to use such planes."

Of 137 Mosquitos tested and turned over to the Chinese, he added, 60 crashed in training, and 40 others were grounded because the Chinese were unable to keep them in operating condition. Four more were lost on combat missions.

Margarine Ban Decision Delayed

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—(CP)—The supreme court decision on the validity of the margarine ban—expected next Monday—has been delayed and will not be handed down until later next week, it was learned yesterday.

The judgment will determine whether the legislation prohibiting the importation, manufacture and sale of margarine in Canada is constitutional.

Pioneer Resident Of Stettler Dies

CALGARY, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Mrs. Edward Prudden, 91, pioneer resident of the Stettler district, died at her home here yesterday. Mrs. Pruden was the widow of Edward Prudden, member of the Alberta legislature from 1918 to 1922. Her husband predeceased her in 1932. A native of Barrie, Ont., Mrs. Prudden moved to Stettler 45 years ago and was one of the first residents of that town.

No Rail Line Merger Under Tories—Drew

MONCTON, N.B., Nov. 13.—(CP)—George Drew said here last night that as head of a federal government he would oppose amalgamation of the railways and would favor better social security legislation for Canada.

Nearing the end of a tour of the maritimes, the Progressive Conservative leader chose this eastern centre to make these points:

1. The Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways would not be amalgamated by a Progressive Conservative government.

FAMILY ALLOWANCES

2. His party is on record in favor of family allowances on an "even level" for every child regardless of size of family.

3. His party stands for old age pensions at 65 without the means test.

4. He hopes to convince the government on the next session to reduce living costs by standing taxes.

5. If elected, one of the first matters his government will do is reconvene the Dominion-provincial conference to settle constitutional and taxation issues.

WHISPERING CAMPAIGN

Mr. Drew, who moves in Fredericton today to complete his tour, said a whispering campaign has already started and people are being told that if they vote Progressive Conservative the railways will be amalgamated, offices centralized and the shops moved to large centres.

He had never suggested such a course of action and had never believed in centralization. He believed in decentralization because it brought work and development to all parts of the country.

On living costs, he said up to the duty of the government to bring down the cost of living by stopping "reckless spending" and Mr. Drew. He suggested that the costs could be brought down through tax cuts rather than through price control.

Trial Might Endanger Life

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Two court-appointed doctors reported yesterday that a lengthy trial might endanger the life of ailing William Z. Foster, national chairman of the United States Communist party. Foster and 11 other Communist leaders are scheduled to go on trial Monday charged with conspiring and advocating violent overthrow of the United States government.

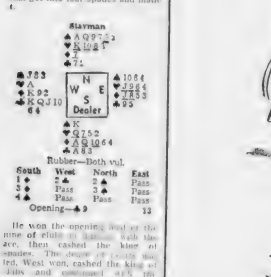
Shrewd Analysis Wins This Game

By William E. McKenney

One of the New York star players who will be on hand for the national tournament at the Roney Plaza Hotel in Miami Beach, Fla., the first week in December is Samuel Stayman.

I met Sam on Broadway the other day, and he gave me today's hand. He said: "If my partner had been four hearts, there would be no story in this hand. You could cash the king of spades, chuck two clubs on the spades, and then start cross-ruffing." But Sam got into four spades and made it.



Rubber—Both vul.

South	West	North	East
1♦	2♣	2♠	Pass
3♦	Pass	4♠	Pass
4♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening—♣9

He won the opening lead of the nine of clubs in dummy with the ace, then cashed the king of spades. The deuce of hearts appeared, West won, cashed the king of clubs and continued with the queen.

Sam suddenly realized that West probably had held the singleton ace of hearts. He knew that the queen of clubs would be established, and if he allowed East to win the trick West would cash a club for a trump. So Sam ruffed with one queen of spades. Then he played the ace of spades and led a small spade, the jack and let it ride. When a club was returned, he ruffed it.

Due to the two-club vulnerability, [illegible]

Basketball Floor Slated For Arena

Parade, formerly a major attraction on the opening day of the summer fair, will be revived next year by the Edmonton Exhibition Association.

A special committee headed by Charles E. Wilson was appointed Friday to work out plans for holding the parade, and to seek reaction from Edmonton business executives on its revival.

Others named to the committee are J. D. Paterson, William Muir and F. W. Kemp.

$4,000 GRANT

Buildings will be repainted, and all roads will be graded, and coated with oil to remove the dust nuisance.

Grant of $4,000 was made to the Junior Hockey League, each of the four teams participating in receiving $1,000.

Executive of the Exhibition Association was instructed to negotiate with Imperial Oil Ltd., seeking an educational display by the company similiar to the drilling exhibition at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto this summer.

James Paul, managing director of the association, reported to directors that the area in front of the arena had been gravelled, and that flood lights had been installed.

BUILD FLOOR

He reported also arrangements had been made to construct a basketball playing floor that would be installed in the sales ring in the livestock building. Cost of this floor is estimated at $1,100.

Donation of $250 was made to St. John Ambulance Association.

Load Of Cattle Also Safe; Lights Cut Off

Traffic was held up and street lights in the Scona Hill area were put out of commission shortly before 10:30 p.m. Friday when a heavy-duty cattle truck went out of control.

Careening down 99 street in a flurry of snow-flakes, the truck gained momentum when the brakes failed to work.

It jumped the west curb when the driver swerved to miss a car, sheared three trolley bus line poles off at their base, narrowly missing several other vehicles, careened across to the other side of the street near 84 avenue, and plunged over the embakment into the brush.

Taken to Universtly Hospital in Smith's Ambulance he was found suffering from shock and shaking up.

The truck, which came to rest in the heavy underbrush on the side of Scona hill, was loaded with cattle.

None of the animals was badly injured.

Eye witnesses to the accident Ronnie Draher, 14, and Louis Thireau, 16, both of St. Paul, were at the bottom of Scona hill.

They said they saw lights flashing on and off as the truck came crashing down 99 street and into the brush on Scona Hill.

Running to the truck they found the cab doors pinned shut by brush but the cab empty. The driver had jumped.

Traffic normally taking the 99 street route was re-routed immediately after the accident while a crew from the city transit system went to work.

Trolley lines were pulled near to the ground by the three broken poles.

Three buses were held up by the accident.

In his statement to police driver said the truck had gone out of control when the brakes failed to work.

No charges have been laid pending further investigation.

Bohemian Girl Will Highlight Full Week

By Dick Sherbaniuk

City concert goers will have anything but a dull time next week. Starting tomorrow night there are seven straight nights of musical entertainment.

Highlight of the week will be the Civic Opera Society's production of The Bohemian Girl, running Wednesday through Saturday in the Strand Theatre.

But there is plenty of other music on tap.

Tomorrow night the University Musical Club presents a program of vocal and violin work. Vocal artist will be Eleanor Bowerman, mezzo soprano, who has sung in past productions of the Civic Opera Society, and who will appear in The Bohemian Girl later in the week.

MUSIC

She will sing Nocturne, and Rain, by Pearl Curran; Carmena, by Ted Wilson; Clouds, and Let My Song Fill Your Heart, by Ernest Charles; Into the Night, and By The Bend of the River, by Clara Edwards; I Heard You Singing, by Eric Coates Sounds, and Tomcats, by Gustav Klemm. Alex Horsman will be accompanied on the piano by her sister Irene.

Other half of the program will be presented by Jack Jenkins and Bill Robson, both students at the University.

TWO VIOLINS

They will play the dual violin composition by J. S. Bach, the Concerto in D Minor, a piece of music that isn't often attempted by local artists and should be well worth hearing. The two young musicians, who, by the way, also play in the Varsity Symphony Orchestra, will also offer The Swan, by Saint-Saens, and Hungary, from Forestier Lamb, by Moskowsky's arranged by Saenger. The duo violinists will be accompanied at the piano by Norma Fowler.

Vying with Community Theatre's production of Life With Father, which opens Monday through Wednesday in the Recreation Commission building auditorium, will be Hazel Solomon, dramatic soprano from Toronto.

Sponsored by Central United Church, Miss Solomon has become popular among critics for her concerts in the Eastern U.S. and Canada.

The young Negro artist will sing a different program each night in Central United Church, at 9:00 p.m. Evening.

THIRD CONCERT

Also on Tuesday night will be another church concert, a choir concert at the Presbyterian church, existing artists on the program will be Margaret Anne Brine, who graduated last June from Ontario Ladies' College, and received first class honors and her ARCT teacher's diploma in piano. Miss Brine will play the Grieg piano Concerto in A Minor with organ accompaniment, and some piano solos.

In its 14th year of operation, the Civic Opera Society has proven its popularity with Edmontonians in the past, and its first production of this season promises to be an enjoyable one.

The show stars soprano Sherrill Lanyon and Rose Donis, who share the leading role of Arline, and Robert Eby, Noreen Bristow, Boris Johnson Melnak, and guest artist Clifford Newell, tenor from Washington.

ALTERNATE NIGHTS

Miss Lanyon will sing Wednesday and Friday nights, and at the Saturday afternoon matinee, and Miss Bristow Thursday and Saturday nights.

Principals in the cast have been rehearsing since last spring, and the orchestra and chorus, of 60 each, have been hard at it during the past two months. In fact everyone has been busy for the past month with a rehearsal of one part of the show or another almost every night of the week, in that time.

Musical director is Mrs. J. B. Carmichael, who has held that position ever since the Civic Opera Society was founded in 1935, chorus director is Mrs. Imelda Olsen, dramatic director is T. W. Dalby, and ballet mistress there are three or four ballet sequences in th show) is Shirley Davidson.

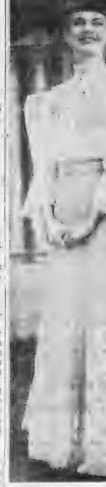
The months of hard work by these people, the cast and chorus, the musicians in the orchestra, the production men, and the unsung others will be rewarded when the show is viewed by Edmonton next week.

U.S. TENOR

Next artist in the Celebrity Concerts Series will be tenor Eugene Conley, who will sing in McDougall United Church on November 26.

Mr. Conley didn't do much singing in his high school days when he was a soloist with the school glee club and quartet and sang with several local churches in his hometown of Lynn, Massachusetts.

He began taking vocal lessons after graduating from high school and got a job in an electric company plant, in Lynn, then in Boston But he kept up his singing with church quartets, and it was during a Boston broadcast with one of these that he was heard by a radio agent. The agent made him an offer, and Conley began various radio appearances, also joining the Boston Male Choir and the Boston Lyric Opera Company.



CANADIAN-BORN Allyn McLerie is playing the Ingenue lead in the current Broadway production, "Where's Charley?" Born at Grand-mere, Que., Miss McLerie began her professional career at 14.

Toronto Man Wins Acclaim

By The Canadian Press

Two compositions by a young Canadian who has been called the "most important contemporary composer," were aired on a Dominion-wide network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation Nov. 10 as part of CBC's Wednesday program of music and drama.

The music was composed by 23-year-old Harry Somers of Toronto It was Bernard Heinze, noted Australian musician and conductor, who called Somers the "most important" composer of some time when he was making a tour of Canada as a guest conductor.

Geoffrey Waddington conducted the CBC orchestra in Somers' "North Country," a 12-minute work of four movements completed last October. Others Somers compositions heard were the "Rhapsody for Violin and Piano," and the "Scherzo for Strings."

The scherzo has been played from manuscript by the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, but its presentation on Wednesday's program was the first since its publication in New York. It is one of the few orchestral compositions by Canadians to be published.

Somers attracted international attention when his composition for piano, "Strangeness of Heart," was played before concert audiences in the United States, Central America and Mexico.

The young composer received the greater part of his education in Toronto. He studied piano with Reginald Godden and Weldon Kilburn and composition with John Weinzweig at the Royal Conservatory of Music there. He turned to composition after two years of military service from 1943 to 1945.

Gov't Is Urged To Quit Housing

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—(CP)—The Winnipeg House Builders Association yesterday asked the federal government to get out of the field of home construction in Canada.

The association said in a statement that private builders put up 80,000 units in 1948, while the federal government "with all its supreme rights, priority and authority" produced only 7,000 units.

The statement said that at the annual convention of the House Builders of Canada to be held in Vancouver Nov. 15-17 the Winnipeg association will ask Canadian house builders to produce 100,000 housing units in 1949.

Jailed Spouse No Marriage Bar

MONTREAL, Nov. 13.—(CP)—The courts cannot give people relief from their own errors in judgment, Mr. Justice P. T. Collin ruled yesterday in refusing annulment of a marriage by a woman who discovered after the ceremony that her husband had been in jail.

The woman said she would not have married the man had she known his true character and particularly that he had been a convict.

Each party to a marriage," said Mr. Justice Collins, "takes his or her respective mate as a person and if that mate does not possess the physical, moral and mental qualities which the other party may have thought existed in him or her, it is that party's misfortune but it is not grounds for setting aside a marriage."

Anti-Confederation Group In Action

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 13.—(CP)—In a last-ditch effort to prevent confederation with Canada, a Newfoundland responsible government league delegation left here yesterday to petition the British House of Commons.

North Loneliness Brightened by CBC

By Don Flach

Mark one up for radio.

To radio's credit, as a service to its listenrs, are the special programs aired for those whose occupations take them to the "outside" Arctic regions.

It isn't a well-known service or program to those outside its orbit and its annual entrance is not attended with great fanfare and promo spaces.

But for the 15,000 persons living in the Northwest Territories, the Yukon, and the hundreds of Arctic explorers, the Northern Messenger is a link with civilization, a comfort and a solace through the long winter nights.

Broadcast by the CBC, the Messenger's 1948 season starts Nov. 15 and for when personal messages begin flowing out of the stations across the country to trappers, traders, settlers, missionaries and Mounted Police, telling of births and marriages, or just bringing a cheery hello from the outside world.

RADIO

BORN IN 1929

The idea of the service was born in the '30's, at that time station KDKA in Pittsburgh was one of the most powerful transmitters in the United States, and one of the few heard clearly by residents of the Far North. Through negotiation with Canadian authorities, KDKA, in 1929, began sending personal messages to those who had no other means of communication.

In 1933 the service was taken over by the CBC which developed it into a far-reaching organization. This year the service is handled from Winnipeg, a change from previous years when it originated in Toronto.

Messages must be 25 words or less and must be of a personal nature. The messages are recorded by three men announcers and one woman and sent to the transmitters for broadcasting. They are aired on Friday night and Saturday morning from three prairie stations, CBK Winnipeg, CBK Saskatchewan, and CBK, Alberta. One week later the same recordings are relayed from eastern stations, including the big CBC transmitter, CBA at Sackville, N.B.

BIG AREA

Although the 15,000 persons served by the Messenger live in an area of 2,500,000 square miles, the CBC says 99 per cent of the messages are delivered. A few misses are caused by interference with on one broadcast, but in many cases the messages have been relayed by word of mouth months later by someone who heard them perfectly.

At the end of the winter when the broadcasts cease, all the greetings sent during the season are mailed to Ottawa. They are then forwarded north on the next supply boat.

The most joyful of all events in the calendar of the north is the Christmas broadcast of the Messenger. The time is extended to allow almost twice as many messages and everyone in the Arctic and sub-Arctic gathers around the radio.

EDUCATION

Next week across Canada will be Education Week, and many programs on the networks and local stations will be paying tribute to the occasion.

On the program Cross-Section, heard Thursday, 9:30, CFRN, a study of educational problems will be aired, and on Points of View, Tuesday, 10 p.m., CBX, speakers will argue the pros and cons of learning a trade or continuing a formal education.

Sports College at 5:30 Saturday CBK will study sports activities in the schools.

Stage 49, Sunday at 8:00 on CBX, this week will bring a radio adaptation of Emily Bronte's novel Wuthering Heights. The adaptation is written by John Belliveau Jr. of Kamloops who now lives in Toronto. John Drainie will play the role of Heathcliff and production will be by Andrew Allen.

ARTS REVIEW

Three of the arts are to have their critiques bunched into a half-hour program starting at 9:30 Sunday evening on CBX. Clyde Gilmour will conduct the criticism of the movies and various reviewers will be heard in criticism of books and radio. Earle Birney, Vancouver professor, editor and poet, will do the radio criticism and Lister Sinclair will do the book reviews.

Wednesday night, this coming week, will include a radio version of the opera by Christoph Gluck, Orpheus and Eurydice, and the beautiful Sangaree, a drama by Larry Henderson based on an account written by Niccolo Machiavelli, whose name has become synonymous with intrigue and subterfuge.

Canada Has Lots Of Music Talent

By Jerry Forbes

"Name me five outstanding Canadian dance musicians." The average Canadian if faced with that question would mumble something about Mart Kenney and leave it at that.

Not so here. We have plenty of fine dance musicians there are in this country, who they are, or where they play.

Canadian modern music has no recognized trade publication. The Canadian networks can't begin to list all the fine musicians who should be heard on the nets. And so the lads labor on year after year in obscurity until such time as they are "discovered" and head south.

DON'T UNDER-RATE

It's an unfortunate situation that is not easy to remedy. One thing we have to fight is that tendency to under-rate the capabilities of our own Canadian musicians.

Most people feel that if he's Canadian, he can't be too good.

The fact is the native in Canada has many great musicians. Mike Hayward or Benny Weinstone both play a Canadian melody. Ellis McLintock plays a sweeter trumpet than Spivak. That's a pretty broad statement but believe me, it's true.

Paul Grosney can play bop trumpet with the best of them. As for arranger, I've heard few you find better scoring than that of Kenny Campbell or Johnny Hert. To most of you this is all this column, these are just so many names. In the world of music however, these names stand for outstanding accomplishment.

Don't let anyone tell you we have no great musicians in this Canada of ours. These I have mentioned are only a few of the names that may some day be as familiar to you as that of Mart Kenny. Musically speaking Canada has a lot of growing up to do. It's a long road, but we'll get there.

TALENT GALORE

"That girl, is singing the blues." Every Sunday evening at 8:30, that familiar phrase ushers in Starlight Moods on your Dominion Network station.

"That girl" is Phyllis Marshall, a young lady with more talent than you can shake a vibrato at. Discovered on the Opportunity Knocks show, Phyllis sings all by her own. With her dusky deep voice it would be the easiest thing in the world for her to be an "imitator" but that isn't the role this young lady is going to play.

She sings all the old standard blues songs her own way and the result is a little touch of the real heaven. It's to be hoped this very talented lady will stay this side of the border.

Disc Influx Best Of Recent Months

By Dick Sherbaniuk

For some reason, there seems to have been more good records come to Edmonton this week than there have been for months.

Both classical and popular, there's lots of musical enjoyment in record lists of the past month and the past week has seen some of the best.

The album I enjoyed most of all was Alexander Brailowsky's piano work on all 21 of Chopin's Etudes, included in a new RCA Victor Red Seal album (eight 12-inch discs).

Although the Etudes were written as piano studies, there's nothing studied or dry about them, for they run the gamut of all the charm, grace, and expression that Chopin's music is most famous for.

RECORDS

For the past year or so, Brailowsky has been specializing in a series of concerts which include all the piano compositions of Chopin, and his Victor album has been added to the series.

Brailowsky is an expert pianist and therefore his technical work is fine. His interpretations are just as good, which adds even more to his album, and the recording of these discs is superb.

ENGLISH ALBUM

Including the whole opera, the album contains 15 12-inch discs.

Recording is very good, and does justice to the chorus and orchestra of the Opera House of Rome which did the singing and playing for this record set.

Conductor is Vincenzo Bellezza, and this gentleman has done a superb job with his orchestra and chorus.

Boston symphony Orchestra (conducted by Serge Koussevitsky) and the Berkshire Festival Chorus (choir of Shaw conducting) have recorded Beethoven's Ninth (Choral) Symphony in D Minor, Op. 125, for RCA Victor.

On eight 12-inch records, the album isn't as good as it should be, but it's still Beethoven's Ninth

SOME SINGLES

Here are some of the best single releases that has arrived in Edmonton during the past week:

Metropolitan Opera baritone Leonard Warren and his rich voice do a beautiful Danny Boy and The Lord's Prayer, refreshingly unlike the mawkish versions of so many crooners. On RCA Victor Red Seal, 10-inch.

From Richard Strauss' Salome comes the Dance of the Seven Veils, more than usually fascinating and captivating when played by the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Sir Thomas Beecham. Recorded in England, it's RCA Victor Red Seal, 12-inch.

Metropolitan Opera singers Dorothy Kirsten, soprano, and Robert Merrill, baritone, are pleasant listening with the Hammerstein-Romberg hits When I Grow Too Old To Dream, and Wanting You. With Russ Case and orchestra, this is a 10-inch Victor Red Seal record. The very popular Indian Love Song is a tantalizing release on Decca. You Were Only Fooling, and Something Sweet To Your Sweetheart. Better than ever, the Ink Spots have a sleek arrangement of Only Something Sweet—the Inkmate-voiced bass gives his only-for-your-ears recitative while the

Also on a Decca record are nice versions of Gloria and I Want To Be The Only One, by the Mills Brothers.

There's corn aplenty with Jack Lathrop and the Dingaling Daisy boys, and Cornbelt Symphony and Jaunty Brenda Lee. The boisterous accordion aggregation is seen with their Symphony, and the Cowboys do some fair harmonizing with Brenda Lee. RCA Victor.

YOUNG AMERICAN tenor Eugene Conley will be the next artist to be presented in Edmonton in the Celebrity Concerts Series.

Eight Dates On Music List

Canadians Get Something New

Something new for Canadian listeners was the "Portrait of a Year" program heard Wednesday, Nov. 10, on a Dominion-wide network of the CBC. Using the actual words of leading figures of the time, the program reviewed the events of the year 1848, a time of revolution and trouble.

Stories of the year presented in the program included the Mormon trek westward in the United States, the Irish famine, and the birth of the coming of responsible government to Canada.

Ban Of 'Red' Dean' In Quebec Urged

QUEBEC, Nov. 13.—(CP)—The city clerk was charged by the city council yesterday to officially urge Premier Maurice Duplessis in a letter "to use his powees" to bar Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, "Red Dean' of Cantebury, from speaking in the province of Quebec.

Councillor Henri Gagnon told the council he was in favor of applying the padlock law in this case. He also urged that the federal government be asked to bar the "this undesirable.

Mr. Gagnon said that the schedule of Dean Hewlett Johnson "includes his presence in Quebec City in a few days.

"In the name of my fellow citizens I protest against the coming into this province of this Communist personality who attacks religion and what is most sacred to us, the clergy, Mr. Gagnon told the council.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The French government formally decided yesterday persistent reports it intends to create a new franc.

Despite the denial, rumors were widespread in Paris that some sort of currency change is under study.

U.S. VIDEO AFTER CANUCK PERFORMERS

United States television interests are not unaware of Canadian talent. Already one group has been picked for south of the border appearances on video screens, and scouts are looking over the Canadian scene for other promising performers.

The Billy O'Connor Trio, a combination now working at one of Toronto's night clubs has been filmed for television while playing a number from the trio consists of guitarist Jack (Jake) Turner, and Johnny Elmwood, bass.

Starting in the near future, the three boys will fly to New York and back from Toronto to appear on a live television show. The trio will star as featured performers during an eight-week engagement.

Canada Takes Spot In Literary World

Toronto Critic Pays Tribute To Our Authors

By Harold Delany

Recent success of many Canadian books and the wide acclaim they have received both at home and abroad, inspire the question: "What part does Canada play in all the great wealth of literature?"

"According to William Arthur Deacon of Toronto, former president of the Canadian Authors' Association," says the Letter, "every important Canadian book has been written within the last 70 years.

BOOKS

"It is within the last 25 years, however, that a single year's production now outweighs, in volume and merit, that of any decade before 1920."

Mr. Deacon said Canada rose to new prominence during the Second World War, and Canadians gained confidence in themselves in all fields, including that of literature.

In the years since 1942, the problem has been to find enough good books by Canadians to meet the demands of this public, and to produce enough copies to fill orders.

SMALL PERCENTAGE

But 25 years ago, not two per cent of the books bought by Canadians were written by Canadians, said Mr. Deacon.

Canada is now producing 100 works of general literature annually, including some of international importance. There are times on the home market when Canadian books outsell imports.

An example of this is "The Owl Pen," by Kenneth McNeil Wells. This story of newspaperman turned small farmer, led the non-fiction book sales for four consecutive months.

"For many years, Canadian writers have been climbing a long uphill path to recognition and in some cases to fame," the letter continues.

"In 1927, when Mazo de la Roche won the $10,000 Atlantic Monthly prize with her novel 'Jalna,' the achievement was so sensational for a Canadian writer the city of Toronto gave her a public banquet.

"Gwethalyn Graham's 'Earth and High Heaven,' is circulating in 10 languages other than English. Gabrielle Roy was elected a member of the Royal Society of Canada and her novel, 'The Tin Flute,' won the Prix Femina Vie Heureuse (Paris) for the year's most distinguished novel by a woman.

TWO OTHERS

"Bruce Hutchinson's "The Unknown Country' and Hugh MacLennan's 'Two Solitudes' entered best-sellerdom at home and were excellently received abroad."

Reviewing the Canadian Literature section, the Monthly Letter points out that Canadian authors benefit Canada in more than one way:

"Besides the prestige Canadian writers win for Canada they also bring in handsome sums of United States dollars. Unlike other exporters, they do not have to send away our physical resources.

"Canada has three novelists, each of whom has taken in one-quarter of a million dollars from a single book, and the more successful Canadian writers derive 75 to 80 per cent of their incomes from the American market."

* * *

This week we would like to devote a few words to those people who say: "I would like to read something besides the evening papers, but I just don't have the time."

Procrastinators failing refuge in such statements are deluding nobody but themselves. The "no time" alibi usually indicates a person who has no desire to read, but won't admit it to more literate acquaintances.

To the many non-readers who adopt this attitude we can only say: "Stop rationalizing and admit quite openly, with only slightly reddened eyes, that you don't like to read."

On the other hand, for those who sincerely like to read but truly believe they lack the time, there is still hope they will get back into the literary groove.

UTILIZE WASTE

And the only way to accomplish this is to utilize all the odd periods of "wasted" time which crop up in every person's day.

Some of these periods, which might be five or might be 50 minutes, are the half-hour in a doctor's waiting-room, the quarter-hour before supper is put on the table, or that additional time at lunch when the waitress is a good 10 minutes between the soup and the main course.

These handy little volumes will fit most pockets in men's clothing and in women's purses, they would be just one more item among the hundreds.

Busy-dwellers particularly, does this installment-plan-reading apply.

The average Edmontonian, for instance, spends 20 minutes a day, twice daily, on the street car or bus—all of which could be devoted to reading.

Not only will this pleasant device break the monotony of the daily grind, but the commuter will be amazed at the amount of reading thus accomplished.

Young Dramatic Soprano Plans Varied Concerts

Programs have been announced for the concerts to be presented Monday and Tuesday nights by Hazel Solomon, dramatic soprano from Toronto.

Sponsored by Central United Church, Miss Solomon will sing different program each night. Both concerts will be presented in Central United Church auditorium.

Monday night—I Hear a Thrush at Eve, by Cadman; Lullaby, Scott; Still As The Night, Bohm; The Rose Enslaved, The Nightingale, Rimsky-Korsakoff; The Trout, and Du Bist Die Ruh, by Schubert; Oh Had I Jubal's Lyre (Joshua), Handel; I Will Extol Thee (Ell), Costa; Elsa's Traum (Lohengrin), Wagner. Riteena, Vindro (Aida), Verdi.

Group of five numbers from Dvorak's Gypsy Songs, and the spirituals Sinner, Don't Let This Harvest Pass, Little David, Play On Your Harp, Bye and Bye, Nobody Knows de Trouble I've Seen.

Tuesday night — In An Arbor Green, Warlock; A Land Of Silence, Quilter; Sleep, Warlock; Happy Flock, Bach; The Almighty, Handel; Still As The Night, Bohm; O Thou Billowy Harvest Field, Rachmaninoff; Villinelle, Dell 'Acqua; Elsa's Traum and Hitorna Vinchier; I Will Walk Then, Costa; Out Of The Deep, Eville; The Lord's Prayer, Malotte. I Stood On The Mountain, Ride On, Jesus, On My Journey.

ISN'T THIS A FINE PRESENT FROM YOUR BEST JUNIOR BEAU?

SANTA CLAUS is coming to town and Moms all over the country are helping the jolly old gentleman pick out the loveliest presents are for small fry. Dolls such as the one David Taylor reluctantly gives to his playmate Beverly Kellett are the kind of things youngsters put at the top of their Christmas-wants list. This special doll has a beautiful lawn frock, hand-sewn and hand-embroidered with as much attention to detail as the most fashion-wise after-five gown.

LAST FLURRY OF ACTIVITY BEFORE BAZAARS OPEN

NIMBLE FINGERS, patience, time and a thousand and one pieces of pretty material are needed when a group of women set out to gather material for doll's bazaars. Mrs. E. F. Donald is convener for one bazaar to be held Dec. 3. and is busy as the proverbial bee finishing the intricate little frocks, snowsuits, bonnets, sweaters to go on sale at the bazaar. Mrs. Donald says all members have contributed so much of their time and skill that the affair is certain to be worthwhile.

Fashion Parade of Dolls Will Please Young and Old

Queens of the kindergarten set spend most of their hours dreaming of the pretty dollies they hope to find under the Christmas tree Dec. 25.

They want dolls that are life-like with just as many (and more) clothes than Mummy has in her very own closet.

For Mummies who just haven't time or patience to make all the delicate finery little Sally thinks her doll should have . . . the forthcoming doll bazaars will provide the answer.

Nov. 24, Circle 5 of Robertson United Church Women's Association will present a doll bazaar in the lower hall of the church from 3 to 5:30 p.m.

Dec. 3, Junior Women's Association of Garneau United Church will exhibit doll finery in All Saints' parish hall from 2 to 6 p.m.

Mrs. C. E. Walsh, president of the Robertson group, reports that her sister members have an amazingly beautiful array of birthday dolls . . . one for each month of the year . . . dressed in appropriate costume for the season.

Mrs. L. J. Belanger is convener of the bazaar for this group.

Mrs. D. E. Smith is president of the Garneau group which has spent a great deal of time designing and sewing a charming dolls' bridal outfit.

Each organization will present more than 1,200 articles of dolls' clothing. Best idea, suggests, Mrs. E. F. Donald, Garneau convener, is to bring your dolls and outfit them from tip to toe in top fashions of the doll feminine world.

PRETTY AS PICTURE DOLLS PLEASE PROUD MEMBERS

Hair-Cut Gadget Appeals to Bea

By Bea Thrifty

Last year's revolution in fashion brought about a change in hair styles. Long flowing locks were shorn and the short cap coiffure became the rage.

Just one little drawback to this . . . the short locks never stayed short for any appreciable time.

You can buy one for $1.25 and refills are three blades for 25c

The "tapérette" is a long-handled comb which encases a keen razor blade that thins and shaves the hair as you comb it.

It does a cracker of a job of eliminating split-ends or dried ends and as a result a more beautiful looking cut are you.

Hair thinned and tapered this way is far easier to set and keep looking like Miss Canada's silky locks.

It's worth it's weight in platinum in the way of children's hair trimming. Men will find it can be used quite successfully too . . . . and if your husband is like most husbands . . . . this may come in handier than you'd think . . . . offhand.

Also . . . another sterling quality. If the hair has a tendancy to curl, which mine certainly hasn't, use of this splendid little machine will encourage and give shape to the wave.

Time and again I've been tempted to buy a hank of material and "drape it becomingly" over the torso before dashing off to the "hall of the year" . . . . just to try out this or that. But women of India seem to have carried out so successfully for a number of centuries.

Seriously, though my pretties . . . . New York designers have one eye glued to the sari for inspiration . . . . so it won't be long now. . . .

Christmas means a lot of things to a lot of people . . . . to me it's sallied almond time.

Salted almonds, blenched, roasted and sallied over the hot oil kitchen stove are a treat I refuse to do without.

For the nine-to-five girl who just can't dish hers every day at all . . . . I saw a smart pair of brawl alligator-type leather wedgies . . . . for the amazing price of $6.45.

They appeared to be well-constructed and fashionable . . . . so fitting the $6.45 expenditure seems a distance indeed for the usual run of shoe prices.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS -

Jealousy at Bottom Of Maladjustments

What is the greatest fault of women? Jealousy. When you analyze the troubles of women, you almost invariably find that jealousy is at the bottom of them.

It begins with sex jealousy, of course, for the average woman thinks that she has a monopoly on any man she fancies, and that he is a double-dyed criminal if he so much as glances at another petticoat.

Apparently women never think of a man as just a human being who enjoys looking at a pretty girl, talking to a clever one or renewing a friendship with a girl he went to school with but who has no nefarious designs upon her.

And certainly when a man gets engaged to a girl, or marries her, he never dreams that she thinks that she has bought him, body and soul.

th

But it happens. And to this column come a never-ending stream of tear-sodden letters from girls who write that their hearts are broken and that they never will know a happy moment again because they saw their fiances talking to another girl.

These simple acts of courtesy the girls regard as deadly insults and proof that their Boy Friends are sniffing with them, instead of naming the wedding day.

WEEPING WOMAN

We hear a great deal about unhappy husbands, and all of us have women friends who weep on our shoulders while they sob out a story of how they are neglected by their spouses, though the poor husbands may have committed no greater offence than having read the newspaper instead of talking to them.

But when you come down to brass tacks, what most of these disgruntled wives are suffering from is just a bad case of jealousy.

They can't bear it that their husbands have any interests outside of them, and that makes them blind and dumb to the fact that the quickest and surest way of losing a husband is by keeping too tight a reign on him.

They teach the babes in the cradle that only Mother loves them. They refuse to let the father have anything to do with rearing the children.

They will not let their adolescent boys and girls have any of the pleasures and liberties that belong to their age.

If it were not for mothers' jealousy, there would be no mother-in-law problem.

Another pitiful illustration of the unhappiness that women bring upon themselves by their jealousy is that it turns the milk of human kindness in them into clabber.

We are so sorry for women who have comfortable homes, who have devoted husbands and nice children—all the basic materials that go into the making of a happy life — who spoil it all by their envy of others.

Dress Warmly In Cold Room

One way to become an unpopular girl with people who object to too-warm rooms is to close windows, throw more logs on a fire or turn up a thermostat.

Then you can be sure of being comfortable even if you have to share a room with a freshair fiend.

Huddling up in a coat indoors can be easily interpreted as a reproach to the person who throws windows wide open.

If you're worried for fear that snuggies will add bulk to your figure, choose sleek woolen-mixture garments that are hardly more size enhancing than your own skin.

Diapers Dry Outside In All Kinds of Weather

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

It is smart, whenever possible, even in cold weather, to dry the baby's diapers in the fresh air and sun. This is one insurance against diaper rash when it is the result of the growth of minute organisms on the diaper. When the air is cold and dry the diapers will freeze before they dry, but will be soft and fluffy when brought in the house.

Mrs. B.J.H. has heard that adding salt to the last rinse water will prevent the clothes from freezing and she wonders if this salt could be irritating to the baby's skin.

Not at all. But it would seem to be an unnecessary ceremony when freezing does not prevent the clothes from drying.

"I would appreciate, also," she writes, "if you would tell me how to train a baby to play by himself? Mine is uninterested in toys and just follows me around and hangs on my skirt all day long."

If this is a child just learning to walk, then to put him in a playpen so he could see you but be unable to follow you, would give him a chance to find some amusement with playthings. Maybe a small, drip coffee pot which comes apart, or a sieve, or some pots which come in sets and fit together would be more interesting to a child of this age than the conventional dolls, balls and cars.

If the child is two or over and likes to copy your activities, then provide a small dustpan and dust cloth, or a diminutive sweeper or broom, or a pan and some small dishes which may be washed, and let him imitate you and play housewife.

Civilization Now a Dream Come True After Living Years in African 'Bush'

By Frances Geddes

If you care to hear about real troubles, just talk to Mrs. J. A. Gillett who arrived here recently from the "Bush" of South Africa. Dr. Gillett is director of communicable diseases for the province.

After three years in Bechuanaland Protectorate in Africa and two years in British Honduras, Mrs. Gillett is glad to be in Edmonton.

She has two children, Elizabeth, five, and Kathryn who was born in Africa seven months ago.

Every few months, Mrs. Gillett's flock of African servants would decide they couldn't make the effort to work. She finally got tired of trying to keep them and set out to find a new bunch.

Once in a while, she thought that if she bought them some labor saving devices, it might help the situation. They usually contrived to break them so Mrs. Gillett threw up her hands in despair.

Dr. Gillett had his troubles too. The only medical officer in an area of 20,000 square miles with 400,000 natives and 85 white people in his care, he could often have used some skilled help.

Educating them is almost impossible, according to the Gilletts. The native problem in South Africa is one which only the South Africans can solve, they say.

You may remember Seretse, the prince of the Bamangwato tribe who married a white girl in London. To belong in the district over which Dr. Gillett had medical control, a native must be descended from the royal family.

Changing styles don't come into the picture in Bechuanaland. Native women are still wearing Victorian dresses with high necklines and skirts with eight and 10 yards of material, in temperatures of 110 degrees. Mrs. Gillett can't see how they endure them.

Mrs. Gillett found it a relief in Edmonton, not having to keep an eye on her little girl all the time. No snakes or scorpions or wild animals makes life a little different.

But life in the wilds is an experience neither she nor her husband would have missed for worlds.

Easiest Bulbs to Grow In House, Flower in Water

Easiest flowers for the amateur to grow in the house this winter are bulbs which need only water to enable them to flower. Botanists say a bub is a storehouse containing a new plant, plus food and energy sufficient to carry it to maturity. Warmth, water and light start up growth, but this must not be too rapid.

Paper white narcissi, its yellow cousin narcissus soleil d'or, and top size hyacinths are the varieties most commonly grown in water without soil; but crocuses, and grape hyacinths can be grown in bowls containing bulb fibre, and lily of the valley pips will flower in bowls with wet sphagnum moss packed about their roots.

Failure is usually due to fast growth stimulated by high temperatures, which result in scanty roots, spindly top growth, and no flowers at all, or very poor ones.

Whether grown in gravel and water, bulb fibre, or soil, containers several inches deep should be used, so there is plenty of room for roots.

Set the bulbs close together, but do not let them touch. There should be two inches of gravel, soil or fibre below them, and water should be kept only high enough to touch the base of the bulbs.

Root formation precedes top growth and should take four weeks. A temperature below 60 degrees is essential, and it may be kept below 50. Roots develop best in the dark, but with these bulbs a subdued light is permissible. When the roots are fully developed, top growth will begin, and at this stage the bulbs can be given more light though it is well to keep them out of direct sun until flower stalks begin to develop. Then give them all the light possible.

Best flowers will result if a temperature of 65 degrees is never exceeded. Be careful to keep the plants away from steam pipes and radiators, or living rooms heated above 70 degrees. They should be near windows where there is light and temperatures are lower. An enclosed porch or sunparlor where ventilation can be given, and temperatures kept down, is the best place for the winter garden.

Large bulbs of Dutch hyacinths can be grown in water in special glasses, which support the bulb just above the water, in which their roots develop. It takes 10 to 12 weeks for the roots to develop, in a dark place, in cool temperature. When roots fill the glass, and top growth begins, transfer to light, and grow them slowly in a temperature under 65 degrees.

Many Housing Plans Fail in Emergency

This is the second of a series of articles on Edmonton's housing shortage, prepared for House Builders' Association, publication by the Edmonton Bulletin. Further articles will appear regularly in THE BULLETIN.

In this period of severe housing shortage a number of schemes have been tried to meet the emergency. Most of these have required considerable direct subsidy or other aid from city governments as well as from the provincial and federal authorities. In contrast the Integrated Housing Plan has not required any cash aid or other unusual concession from city governments. Indeed the plan relieves the cities of liabilities and brings solid benefits.

Houses built under Integrated Housing are sold to owners who will live in the houses. Veterans have priority in buying. Thus the moral right of the veterans to housing is being fulfilled in part and solid groups of owner-occupiers are being built up.

Naturally, householders who own their own houses are more interested in beautifying them and keeping them in repair. They are more interested in community effort and in the establishment of good schools and churches in their neighborhood. Their interest in the whole city is greater because each one has a real stake in the community when he owns a house.

RELIEF HERE

To the city administrations Integrated Housing is a relief from serious worries and liabilities. These houses pay full city charges the same as any other new houses; that is, they pay full taxes, frontage rates, and all the utilities charges in full. Even if a sudden recession should cause a number of these houses to remain unsold, the city treasury would not suffer. Under the plan any unsold house may be turned over to the Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation by the builder. The Corporation is then responsible for taxes at regular rates.

The sections of the city built up under Integrated Housing are a credit to the city and will be for long years to come. The houses are built to comparatively few basic plans but the exteriors are varied so as to give a pleasing effect along any street. The houses are good-looking and well-constructed. As the grounds are beautified and the streets reduced to order, the pride of the owners will be great. These developments will be show places for the whole city.

The Integrated Housing plan brings additional benefits which might be called hidden because they are not so apparent. The plan makes full provision for the payment of union wages by the builder and sub-contractors. The financing insures that the sub-contractor will be paid and promptly. The builder himself has a fair amount of financial security when he sets out on an Integrated Housing job; this security eliminates any temptation to chiselling and at the same time reconciles him to accepting the low scale of profit which is part of the plan.

FINANCE PLAN

The method of financing under Integrated Housing is of great advantage to the purchaser. The lower down payment, the relatively low interest rate (4½ per cent) and the long period for repayment make it possible for many more people to own the houses they live in. Because of the favorable terms more people are able to take on a contract to buy and they should be able to carry the burden even in difficult times because it will be comparatively light.

The housing problem is difficult. Yet Integrated Housing shows that the problem may be solved to a considerable extent by thought and co-operation. It may be that more thought and co-operation could bring about a complete solution of the entire housing problem.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Vancouver citizens will hear of the birth of Princess Elizabeth's child in the same manner as will most of Britain's communities. Church bells will peal out the birth from three-quarters of this West Coast city.

MEETS PRICES OF DEMOCRATS FOR HAMBURGER

Hamburger was bringing 39 to 35 cents elsewhere in the district. Bacon was at least 60 cents a pound. And the price reductions extended to all meats, eggs and butter.

"Volume," he explained. "Volume will let us sell good meat at these prices and the other stores could do it too. These are the prices the Democrats promised and in some cases they are even lower."

Deakter claimed his prices are scaled to exactly that a one-or-two-cent change at the packing house reflects directly in across-the-counter sales.

Pioneer Prospector Dies In City

Pioneer Edmonton resident and northland prospector, Thomas Hox of 11013 106 street, died Thursday following a brief illness, at the age of 78 years.

Born at White Lake, Ontario, Mr. Hox came west as a young man and took part in the gold rush to the Yukon in 1897.

In later years he was interested in numerous mining properties in the north and was the discoverer of the Hox properties at Goldfields Saskatchewan.

He was also, in recent years, engaged as a contractor west of Edmonton. He has made his home in the city since 1908.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. J. MacLean, Mrs. J. V. Sinclair and Helen, all of Edmonton; one sister, Mrs. Alex Campbell, of Burnstown, Ontario, and a brother, Albert, of Burdette, Minnesota.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 Saturday afternoon in the Foster and McFarlane Funeral Chapel. Rev. Dr. Thomas Murphy will officiate and interment will be made in the family plot in the Edmonton cemetery.

Banff Clinic Under Study

Specialized treatment of arthritic cases at the Banff Mineral springs hospital was studied by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross provincial health minister and Dr. A. Somerville deputy minister and chairman of the Alberta health survey commission when they visited the institution Tuesday.

Dr. M. G. McCallum director of hospitals and medical services for the department accompanied the officials.

Invitation to visit the hospital was extended to the officials by the Arthritis Club of Banff.

Integrated Plan Proves Success

City Builders Outline Workings of Scheme

This is the first of a series of articles on Edmonton's housing shortage, prepared for publication by the Edmonton House Builders' Association. Further articles will appear regularly in THE BULLETIN.

During and after the war the amount of money in circulation was vastly increased. As a result the dollar decreased in value and the prices of commodities began to rise. Householders, dismayed by the swiftly rising prices of such essentials as food, clothing and housing, looked about for someone to blame. Dealers in the common necessities soon found themselves under deep suspicion. Most of them tried honestly to hold prices down but they were helpless. Some reduced quality to hold the price line but that is a very doubtful solution. All this is very human and occurs with every money inflation.

In these post-war years the problem of housing has been one of the worst. Here indeed is the greatest understanding needed and here a genuine effort has been made. Under the Integrated Housing plan, builders of this and other cities have succeeded in holding selling prices of houses below the open market value and at the same time have built houses of high quality.

NON-SELLABLE

Houses built under the Integrated plan may not be sold to investors or speculators, but only to people who will occupy them. But instances have occurred in which people who bought in good faith have had to sell. For example, one householder was transferred by his company. These people have found that houses of this kind can be sold at a considerable profit on the open market. In fact the owner who turns over a house of this type makes a great deal more than the builder who put it up in the first place. The situation is exactly the same as in the new-used car market.

Houses built under Integrated Housing must come up to proper standards of material and workmanship. Edmonton and other municipalities have established rules to regulate the building of houses. The Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation has its set of rules. If either or both sets of rules are followed, the buildings are inspected at intervals by the Loan Companies as well as by the CHMC. City inspectors must be satisfied too. The Integrated Housing plan guards carefully against any jerry-building.

The builder of houses like most other producers today is caught in the squeeze between rising costs and a selling price which must be kept down. The builder must pay decent wages; surely no one would want him to do otherwise. He must buy his materials on a rising and very unsettled market. His costs are increased by delays in delivery of his materials. His attempt to keep the selling price steady at this time means that his profit is being reduced to a point at which the builder will be unable to build houses at all.

NOT TRUE

There are some people who believe that house builders are making fantastic profits. Those people will probably continue to do so because it is impossible to explain to all of them an audited breakdown of the costs of integrated houses. However, the general public is aware that the selling prices of Integrated Housing are set by the Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation, and that those prices allow only a modest profit. It is a fact that the average builder who constructs and sells an integrated house makes about the same as a Real Estate dealer would get for merely selling the house.

Th present high cost of decent housing will continue as long as the period of inflation lasts. If production in this country catches up with the money supply, prices will come down again. Or there may be some other remedy. But as long as the costs that go into houses stay high, the cost of houses must remain high. That is simple arithmetic.

SANTA BURNS, CHILDREN CRY

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Tampa youngsters know that Santa Claus can navigate chimneys, but just the same they don't want to see him go up in smoke.

Many of them burst into tears when a department store's mechanical Santa, his motor overheated, began to smoke heavily.

They soon calmed down when the motor was shut off and Santa stayed safe and beaming although no longer active.

Air Show For City

Plans for holding an annual air show here will be discussed at a meeting to be called shortly by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

Indication has been received by the aviation committee of the Chamber that service clubs and organization in the city are interested in this proposal.

During its history, Norway has been united with two other Scandinavian countries—Denmark 1536-1814 and Sweden 1814-1905.

Mackenzie King Bids Colleagues Farewell

By John Leblanc

OTTAWA, Nov. 13—(CP)—Enigmatic to the end, Prime Minister Mackenzie King today left all hands guessing on the makeup of next week's new cabinet after saying his farewell to colleagues and newspaper men.

Bidding goodbye to the Parliamentary press gallery, he said almost—but not quite—enough yesterday to indicate that a goodsized cabinet shuffle was in the making.

STILL IN DOUBT

What he said in his final press conference was that, after Justice Minister St. Laurent is asked formally to head the cabinet, he will go to government house Monday afternoon with his list of ministers if he is able to complete it in time.

If there is no shuffle, preparing a new cabinet list should not take much "time." The one firmly-known change is the inclusion of Premier Garson of Manitoba and his entry is expected to involve merely stepping into Mr. St. Laurent's justice portfolio.

NOT PINNED DOWN

Mr. King went on to say that the only ministers to be sworn in would be new ones or those changing portfolios.

But he did not say actually that there would be new ministers or portfolio changes.

One announcement he did make was that his resignation would be handed to the governor-general about 10 a.m. Edmonton time at Rideau Hall.

At that time, as he ends more than 21 years in office, he will advise that Mr. St. Laurent—already chosen Liberal party leader—be named his successor. Viscount Alexander then will summon Mr. St Laurent.

ITU Must Purge Self Of 'Contempt'

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The International Typographical Union (AFL), striking against 49 newspapers in 29 cities in the United States, Canada and Alaska, has been given until midnight Monday to purge itself and four top officers of contempt charges.

Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert found the union guilty of evading his March 27 injunction against Taft-Hartley law violations. He held that the union was seeking to maintain closed-shop conditions in negotiations with United States newspaper publishers.

The union appealed the contempt convictions but lost in the United States circuit court of appeals. The higher court Wednesday cancelled a stay it had granted previously and ordered Swygert's contempt order reinstated.

In fixing the deadline for compliance with his injunction, Swygert directed the union's officials to show proof by Monday that they are carrying out terms of the order. Unless statements to that effect are filed before the deadline, the officers must appear before the court Nov. 18.

$5,000 Is Damage When Hay Burns

CARDSTON, Nov. 13.—(CP)—About 250 tons of hay and a baling machine were destroyed by fire on the Blood Indian Reserve about 17 miles north of here Thursday. Loss is estimated more than $5,000. A spark from the exhaust of the baling machine engine is believed to have started the fire.

Four Crash Victims

NEWARK, N.J., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Four men, including an acting fire captain, were burned to death early today when a fire truck collided with a passenger automobile while answering an alarm. Three firemen were injured.

HOME AGAIN after his illness in England, Premier Mackenzie King replies to greetings as he steps from his private car at Ottawa. He will turn over premiership Monday to Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent.

China Battle Still Rages

NANKING, Nov. 13. — (AP)— Weary coolie soldiers on both sides fought on today in the great Suchow battle that may decide the fate of the Chiang Kai-shek government.

All-out air support of the government forces, locked with Red troops in a vast battle of more than 1,000,000 men, was hurled into the struggle.

Both sides claimed a margin of victory. Both charged to the other huge losses in men and material.

Government sources said the Reds had been stopped cold west of Suchow. They said yesterday approximately 150,000 Tainan veterans of the Communist armies were pushed back across the Grand Canal east of the city.

Red forces asserted gains had been made north, east and west of Suchow and that other Communist forces had by-passed the whole field of battle and were moving cautiously toward the Yangtze river, which skirts Nanking.

SOOKE, B.C., Nov. 13.—(CP)—South Vancouver Island Rangers' bloodhound, Sir Roderick of Ogden, was taking part in the search today for William Reader, 49, Colwood camp, missing in the rugged country back of the Sooke Lake watershed since Thursday.

DAD NOT PROUD OF TOT'S TALK

TRENTON, N.J., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Three-year-old Charles Nemes III said six words Nov. 8, but his father was not proud. His father was arrested.

The elder Nemes, charged with bookmaking, was fined $100 for possession of lottery slips and held in $1,500 bail on other gambling counts.

The six words Charles III said were:

Marshall Has No Resignation Plans

PARIS, Nov. 13.—(AP)—State Secretary Marshall of the United States said today he has made no definite plans to resign.

In a statement given to reporters by the American delegation to the United Nations, Marshall said:

"I note in the morning's press a statement alleging that I still cling to my original intention to resign from the cabinet by Jan. 20. I regret that my remarks at the press conference yesterday have been misconstrued. I thought I had made it obvious that I would never take a decision of this nature without discussing it with the president, and that he and I have never discussed the matter."

Laverne Andrews Becomes Bride

10 American Airmen Rescued

TOKYO, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Ten American airmen, forced down in the B-29 near the tiny island of Pale, 350 miles southwest of Guam, yesterday, were rescued today by a navy seaplane from Saipan. All were reported uninjured.

Rescue planes spotted the grounded B-29 this morning and dropped food to the crew.

Longshoremen Tie Up Ports In Eastern U.S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(BUP)—Railroads extended their embargo on export freight shipments to every major port on the eastern seaboard today as a strike of 45,000 AFL longshoremen tied up the multi-million dollar shipping industry.

The New York office of the Association of American Railroads announced that the embargo, clamped down yesterday on shipments to the ports of New York and Boston, was being applied "immediately" to Baltimore, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Del., and Hampton Roads, Va.

The action was taken because the three-day old "wildcat" strike which started in New York became "official at 12:01 a.m. today, a Railroad Association spokesman said. Scattered members of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL) who had been working, joined the strike today after it got official union recognition, the spokesman said.

New Greek Gov't To Be Formed

Designation of Tsaldaris as premier came after the resignation yesterday of 87-year-old Themistocles Sophoulis, Liberal party leader, who had kept a coalition government in power during 14 stormy months.

Tsaldaris, who has been in Paris directing Greek angles of the Balkan dispute in the United Nations flew to Athens last night. He will meet with politicians late today to begin his bid to build a new government.

A woman was bemoaning the fact that her husband had left her for the sixth time.

Mount Royal Opera Meets Opposition

MONTREAL. — (CP) — Montrealers are debating whether or not an open-air theatre should be built on Mount Royal.

To many people familiar with the mountain that watches over this city the proposition sounds attractive. But it's not quite as easy as that because many other Montrealers don't care a hang for opera.

For instance, there are the skiers. They say the proposed open-air opera layout would finish the best skiing trails on the mountain.

Then there are the down-and-outers who sleep away the soft, warm summer nights on the mountain. They don't want operas interfering with their slumbers. The gay young things who tramp the mountain's lanes' lanes in spring-time holding hands don't care much about opera either.

The skiers say the opera folk don't know what they're getting into—or onto. It happens the proposed site is smack on top of a former volcano crater.

The proposed amphitheatre would stretch from near the Mount Royal Chalet, a quarter mile west almost to where the chalet road cuts down to either the park toboggan slide or the tramways loop. It will be made to accommodate 25,000.

The Montreal Star said the city has never had a spectacle that attracted 25,000 people since the old days of the ice palaces.

"It needs a concert hall in the centre of the city, a civic auditorium, a municipal centre—call it what you will, said the Star. "But can any enthusiasm be worked up at City Hall about this? No. A costly and senseless project on the mountain, all right; but something useful to everybody in the city itself—thumbs down."

Markets Continue Under Pressure

Industrials Dip 1.94 In Week; West Oils Only Group To Gain

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Stock markets continued downwards this week under pressure of post-election selling. New York led the decline as a third wave of selling on Tuesday sent price levels reeling back to March. Canadian markets tried to fight the easier trend but continued to slip at a slower pace.

Brokers now are worrying when the downhill slide will end. Slight encouragement this week was the fact that there was only one day of heavy selling and generally prices held firm.

Good corporation news was largely ignored as investors worried about taxation and controls that might be instituted by the Democratic administration.

The four-day week closed on a more optimistic note with volume sagging and prices holding firm. Professionals were trying to consolidate their positions following the post-election decline. Observers believe that the ordinary investor is sitting back and waiting for developments.

New York attempted recovery Monday but couldn't quite make the grade. A third post-election pounding sent leading issues down 1 to 5 points on Tuesday as the price level dropped to late March. The market firmed slightly Wednesday, in brisk action, and was closed Thursday—Armistice Day. Prices firmed Friday as volume dropped. The Associated Press 60-stock average closed out the four days trading Friday at 63.8—down 1.9 from last Friday.

Canadian markets also slipped downwards. In Toronto, western oils were the only group to show a gain on the exchange's index. The list responded to news of a new oil well in the Redwater field in Alberta Friday and moved ahead strongly to finish up .97 from a week ago.

Golds slipped steadily and were down 2.09 at the lowest price level in five years. Industrials also weakened, losing 1.94 over the week. Base metals closed on a 2.07 decline.

Papers were the widest losers in Montreal, dipping 7.84 on the index. Golds were down 3.46 from a week ago and industrials 2.8. Other changes were: Banks off .15; utilities off .1; combined off 1.9. Average industrial volume for the four days was 59,424, as against 88,173 for five days last week, and mines, 438,427, compared with 551,948.

Farm Products Show Decline

The Bureau of Statistics reported Friday that the index number of prices received by Canadian farmers for their products declined in September to 252.8 from 255.8 in August.

Lower prices for fruits, course grains, poultry and eggs, together with a substantial decline in the price of potatoes, were largely responsible for the downward turn in the September index.

Index numbers for Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia were slightly lower, and those for the three prairie provinces rose slightly.

Provincial indices for September, with those for August in brackets, included: Manitoba, 249.1 (246.3); Saskatchewan, 225.5 (225.3); Alberta, 252.7 (249.1); British Columbia, 248.0 (249.1).

Higher Display Rates Forecast

VANCOUVER, Nov. 13.—(CP)—George A. Cran, advertising manager of the Vancouver Sun, told the opening session of the Pacific Northwest Advertising Executives Association Friday that a coming scarcity in newsprint will result in smaller daily newspapers and consequent higher display advertising rates.

Because of this newspaper condensation, Mr. Cran predicted a greater use of classified advertising which he called the "real heart" of a newspaper.

Executives from 48 newspapers in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and British Columbia and advertising men from other points were welcomed to the two-day convention by Howard Mitchell, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade.

New York Gains Outnumber Losses

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The stock market coasted through a slow session today with only minor variation in prices.

Gains had a slight edge over losses but turnover was too meagre to indicate a decisive trend. The general undertone, though was steady.

Some traders have expressed disappointment because prices have not rebounded sharply after the last post-election pounding on Tuesday. The market has remained relatively stable since then, however, and at the same time shown an ability to absorb considerable selling without too much trouble.

Strike Rioters Seize 3 French Policemen

PARIS, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Rioting strikers attacked a government-held coal mine in south central France today and kidnapped three policemen.

In Paris a Communist-called 24-hour general strike stalled virtually all municipal subway and bus lines, forcing workers in this city of 4,000,000 persons to walk to their jobs.

Fighting broke out at Brassac-Les-Mines, 25 miles southeast of Clermont Ferrand, Communist hotbed, where one miner was killed and scores of strikers and police hurt during the coal strike, now in its sixth week.

In at least one section of Paris the water supply was cut off. Garbage collection was halted and refuse probably will remain in the streets until Monday.

Communist labor leaders called the tie-up in answer to what they termed police brutality in the Armistice-Day clash between police and demonstrators on the Champs Elyse. Authorities said 95 police and 45 demonstrators were injured in the outbreak.

The strike was far from being as effective as the Communists had desired, however. By mid-morning gas pressure was low, but mail was being delivered and many stores were open.

20-Cent Wheat Boost Forecast

REGINA, Nov. 13.—(CP)—An increase of 20 cents a bushel in the initial price of wheat, to be retroactive to Aug. 1, 1945, was forecast in Regina last night by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

The increase would cover all wheat sold to the Canadian wheat board in the three crop years 1945-46, 1946-47 and 1947-48.

The minister, addressing the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool convention, said any payment made would come during the next crop year but he hoped it would be made before next spring.

A 20-cent boost would bring the initial payment for wheat to $1.75 basis No. 1 northern at the lakehead. It would apply over the government's five-year pooling plan from 1945-46 to 1949-50.

Mr. Gardiner said it might be possible at the end of the five-year period ending July 31, 1950 to pay a further 10 cents a bushel.

With the probable 20-cent boost tacked on top of that, he said, farmers then would have received an average price of $1.67 a bushel throughout the five-year period.

LIVESTOCK TRAFFIC

Edmonton-total receipts of cars trucked, driven and shipped by rail to local livestock agencies on Nov. 11 and 12—cars 33, cattle 1551, calves 344, hogs 755, sheep 281.

IT STRIKES INTO ONE'S heart with the impact of an atom bomb, so great is the force of the flaming technicolor production, "Tap Roots," a highly combustible film story in southern Mississippi during the days leading into the Civil War. The Walter Wanger presentation released by Universal-International opens at the Rialto Theatre Monday for a six-day run, with lovely Susan Hayward and the handsome Van Heflin in the co-starring roles.

'Tap Roots' Is Lavish Spectacle

Technicolor Drama Opens At Rialto On Monday

Hailed as the year's outstanding technicolor drama, "Tap Roots," which co-stars lovely Susan Hayward and handsome Van Heflin, and has Boris Karloff in the leading feature role, opens at the Rialto Theatre Monday for a six-day engagement.

Scenarized from James Street's best selling novel of the same name, "Tap Roots," is a saga of the independent Dabney clan of Lebanon County which seceded from Mississippi prior to the civil war.

VIOLENCE, TENDERNESS

There is violence and tenderness, heartache and paced excitement in the thrilling screen presentation. The greatest number of people, horses, guns and explosives since "Gone With The Wind," were employed in battle sequences for "Tap Roots."

The story deals with the Dabney family in southern Mississippi prior to the Civil War. When Mississippi secedes from the Union, Lebanon County, dominated by the Dabneys, secedes from the State.

Van Heflin, as Keith Alexander, a renegade newspaper publisher, falls in love with Morna Dabney, played by Susan Hayward, and for this reason alone joins the Dabneys in their rebellion.

Heflin's famous dueling pistols are feared by any man who crosses him. The beautiful red-haired Morna, gives her love to two men and, in keeping with the times, lives for the hour. Karloff as Tishomingo, a Choctaw Indian, is also a friend of the Dabneys and his bull whip is as deadly as Heflin's pistols.

When the Civil War breaks out Morna's sweetheart turns against the Dabneys, joins the Confederate army and becomes a Major. Later, Morna's hand, although she professes to despise him.

It is the conclusion of this romance and the spectacular cavalry charge through the swamps which bring the picture to its memorable climax.

In "Tap Roots," Miss Hayward renders a performance that must be rated better than the Academy Award nomination she earned for her acting in "Smash-Up."

Among the supporting players, Julie London has the role of Aven, Morna's younger sister, Ward Bond is seen as the stubborn, defiant father, Hosh Dabney. Richard Long plays the hot-headed young brother.

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Far be it from Larry Parks to get typed as Al Jolson's film ego. He's seeking an action story as his next film.

Under his new Columbia contract, Larry gets 25 weeks as a free agent after he finishes "Jolson Sings Again." He wants to use at least part of the time in producing his own picture, which is the only way for a star to make real money in this town.

Despite rising costs, the "Jolson" sequel will cost less than the sensational original. There will be no production numbers. Jolson's voice and Parks' face will have to put over the songs.

HITHER AND YAWN!

Ginger Rogers came back from her Oregon ranch for retakes of her Sarah Bernhardt scenes in "Barkleys of Broadway." The sequence was so good that people thought someone else doubled for Ginger. So she'll do some close-ups to prove it's all her's. . . .

Bud Abbott is the latest to plan production of films for television. Meanwhile, Lou Costello is buying into a project to make ice cube trays that eliminate fuss. . . .

Angela Lansbury finally plays her own age in "Samson and Delilah"—24-year-old Semadar. The British gal has played a range of ages, up to the 45-year-old publisher in "State of the Union." She has done every kind of role except comedy—and she started as a comedienne in New York night clubs.

'FRIEND AND HELPER'

Edited by Ruth Barry

TAWASI MAILBAG

Membership Applications Pouring In

I've had the most interesting time this week. Twice a day I get great big bundles of letters from boys and girls sending in Tawasi applications.

Dennis Wilson sent his in from Lloydminster, Sask., so now we have a member in another province.

Several nice letters came, too, with some very good suggestions on ways to be a friend and helper. Patricia Beland of Morinville, 10 years old, says a friend is someone you know will help you when you are in trouble. I am sure Patricia is the kind of a friend you can turn to.

Carol Keenoy of Edmonton is going to write us sometime about her dog, Dixie. We'll be waiting for it, Carol.

Terry Zewe, of Edmonton, is only five so his mother sent his in for him. She says he isn't really a good helper yet but he's just about the best friend you could find for man or beasts or birds or insects, including worms and lizards—young or old. He sounds as if he'd be fun to know doesn't he?

The badges and cards are being made and haven't been delivered yet. The minute I get them they'll be off with a letter to you.

You probably have noticed that the drawing was put off till next week. We'd promised to have application blanks in the paper more often and then couldn't manage it on account of the holiday. I think that's fair, don't you?

Sincerely,
RUTH BARRY

Drawing For Prizes Extended One Week

All the blanks that come in up to Friday, Nov. 19th, will be entered in a grand drawing on Saturday, Nov. 20th.

That will be a lucky day for some boy or girl, because the first name drawn will receive a $10 gift certificate.

A $5 prize goes to the second name drawn, $2.50 to the third, and five more names will be drawn to receive $1 each.

Please enrol me in the Tawasi Club.

Acceptance of this application entitles me to all Club privileges.

We are sorry!

The drawing will be on Saturday, November 20, instead of the 13th. That will give you up to Friday, November 19 to get your applications in.

There was no paper on the 11th on account of the Remembrance Day holiday and since we promised to give you lots of chances it seems only fair to wait another week.

We apologize to the hundreds of boys and girls from all over Northern Alberta, who have already sent in their blanks. As good Tawasis, though, we are sure you want to help the others to have a better chance.

Your membership card and badge will be mailed to you.

Dogs—Man's Best Friends—Oldest Too

Did you know that people have had domestic dogs for so long that even zoologists (people who study animal science) don't know how they came about. Probably dogs descended from wolves, or a mixture of wolves and jackals.

We do know that as far back as the Stone Age people had dogs, and on through the Bronze and Iron ages the children of those days had their pets.

When civilized people discovered America, Australia, New Zealand and Polynesia, dogs were there with the natives. So when mankind first wandered over the earth, before there were books or pencils, or any way of telling their history, their dogs went with them.

The next time somebody says "Man's best friend is the dog," you'll know that man's best friend is also his oldest friend.

City Police Praise Work Of School Safety Patrol

The City Police Traffic Department and the Alberta Motor Association work with the boys and girls of the Safety Patrols to make it possible for 20,000 pupils to cross busy streets four times a day, 200 days a year without any accidents.

CONSTABLE CRAWFORD
. . . Safety smile.

Constable Walter Crawford, who supervises the Patrols, is very careful to say that of course where there was no Safety Patrol accidents did happen. "But then," he says, "the schools would organize a Patrol right away and now we have 27 schools in Edmonton with Safety Patrols."

The Alberta Motor Association supplies all the equipment, sees that all their members know about the patrols, and if any motorist, member or not, is too careless they send him a warning letter.

The cruising cars of the Traffic Division are on the watch all the time, too, the pupils themselves help by obeying their patrols and of course, no motorist would want to hurt a child—but accidents COULD happen, and because they don't the whole city of Edmonton is deeply thankful for the work of the Safety Patrols.

Tale of the Little Blue Bus

Once upon a time there was a little blue bus who went from Vancouver to Deep Cove, Deep Cove to Vancouver, back and forth, forth and back, day in, day out, day after day and always on the same road, over and over and over again.

He would get so very tired of it!

And the worst of it was—there were so many little side roads that looked as if they'd be so much fun. He was sure he could play with them—and talk with them—and laugh and share secrets—not like this NO NONSENSE main road.

One morning the little bus got up to go to work and lo—all the world was covered with snow!

JUST LIKE FEATHERS

The bushes looked as tho' they were covered with down, like feathers in a pillow) and they were twitching and twittering and giggling when it tickled them.

Everything was so happy and sunny and bright!

Everything, that is, except the plain road.

For the other buses, going back and forth, not to mention the cars and trucks, had taken all the snow away—and all that was left was a horrible mucky slush.

And the poor sad little blue bus just stuffed along, thinking how sad it was that he had to work and just go back an forth when other young things were having a wonderful time.

And as he got nearer and nearer to Deep Cove he saw children out with sleds, and children throwing nice clean snowballs—and a girl looking up sprays of snow—and a little dog barking around, rolling in the snow and jumping into banks to send the snow down in showers.

And just when he was feeling sorriest for himself he had a very strange feeling his steering wheel was loose—he could do what he wanted!

And right ahead was one of those interesting little side roads all piled up with snow!

So the little blue bus nudged over, ever so gently, and ever so quietly he turned off—and there he was—skipping along right up to his hub-caps in snow.

He twisted and turned, and he joggled and joured, and he beeped out a little tune on his horn just for fun!

He slowed down when he caught sight of the Shetland pony and a little black and white spotted dog who were dancing around and around the bushes!

Even if he was just a little BUS he was still too big for that, but the Shetland pony and the spotted dog got tired of their dance just then anyway so they came out to the road, and while the little bus danced back and forth and sideways and went in and out of driveways the Shetland pony and the spotted dog frolicked around and around the little bus.

SANG IN HARMONY

They came to a corner and they scrooched around, with a whinny and a bout and a beep!

They came to a hill and they dashed up—with bout and a whinny and a beep!

They sang and they danced—and they whirled around corners and they sashayed up hills and raced down them.

And when they were all getting all out of puff there was time to rest up.

Why right at the Bay [illegible] Deep Cove!

And the driver (who was an Irishman) came out of a long and lovely day dream he'd been having and opened the door of the little bus with a grand flourish.

And all the people who got off thought there'd been a DETOUR—and all the people who got on grumbled a little bit and said, "Thought we'd missed you," and such like.

LONG SOLEMN WINK

But the little bus just waited for them to get on, laughing a little rumbling laugh deep within himself, and when the Shetland pony and the spotted dog caught their breath and started to go home, they all winked a long solemn wink at each other—as much as to say . . . "See you soon. . . ."

How To Make A Window Garden

You will need:
A Muffin tin.
Paint.
Earth.

Paint the muffin tin, fill with earth and plant a seed or a bean in each cup. Put it on the window sill and water it a little each day.

I have seen a grapefruit plant started from a grapefruit seed. You might experiment with a different kind of seed in each cup.

Increased Scope Asked for Probe

Freight Rate Enquiry Moves To Edmonton On Monday

CALGARY, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Saskatchewan and Alberta yesterday urged the Board of Transport Commissioners to broaden the scope of an inquiry into the "mountain differential" to include a number of other "inequalities" in the railway rate structure.

The move was made during hearings of submissions from the two governments and a number of private Alberta interests in support of a British Columbia application for removal of the differential.

Counsel representing the governments said they "gained the impression" the board was slightly broadening scope of the hearing to include other alleged inequalities.

COMMISSIONER SILENT

However, chief commissioner Mr. Justice H. B. Archibald, questioned on the report, declined to confirm that impression.

"I have nothing to say," Mr. Archibald said. "If we are required to give a ruling on the exact scope of the hearing, it will be when we hear the railway submissions later."

The board will continue sitting here Saturday and move to Edmonton Monday.

The mountain differential is a 25 per cent increase in the railway mileage rate on hauling freight through the mountains. However, some railway rates are reduced in order to compete with truck or water shipping.

M. A. MacPherson, counsel for the province of Saskatchewan, stressed that a fair over-all approach to the freight rate structure, and not perpetuation of "a policy of attrition," should be considered by the board.

ALBERTA HEARD

J. J. Frawley, speaking for the Alberta government, took a similar view. Counsel representing the cities of Calgary and Edmonton and the boards of trade of Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat, is expected to make a similar submission in Edmonton Monday.

Wesley H. Jackson of the freight rates committee of the Alberta Board of Trade and Agriculture said the mountain differential discouraged manufacturers from locating in Alberta if any of their market lay in B.C.

NO DAYS OFF FOR HIS COOKS

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Nov. 13.—(AP)—William C. Kindelan, bachelor warden of Rhode Island state prison, doesn't have to worry about giving his cook a day off or a vacation.

He doesn't have to worry about the cook either.

Kindelan said his present cook is on the verge of freedom, but added:

18-Year-Old Guilty Of Manslaughter

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—(CP)—An assize court jury yesterday convicted James Edward Campbell, 18, of Hochester, Minn., of manslaughter in the death of Edgar Frenette, 23-year-old hotelman of St. Boniface, Man. Mr. Justice W. J. Major of the court of Kings Bench reserved sentence until the end of the fall assizes.

Campbell originally was charged with murder, but the jury convicted him on the lesser count. Frenette died May 30 as the result of an attempted robbery in the park hotel.

Slugged during the attempted holdup, the young hotelman died later as a result of the injuries received.

Red Dean Hints Russ Have A-Bomb

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The Very Rev. Dr. Hewlett Johnson dean of Canterbury Cathedral, said last night he wouldn't be surprised if Russia had "an atomic weapon."

The dean arrived here by plane from Toronto, for a six-week tour of 13 states and 15 cities in the United States.

In an airport interview the dean said "They (Russia) have 27 experts at work. They are more concerned with getting the additional energy which they lack to heighten their standards of life, rather than a bomb."

Railroad Operations Are Resumed in Nfld.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 13.—(CP)—The first train out of this capital in more than a month will steam across Newfoundland today to re-open operations on the island's only extensive transport system.

Some 2,500 workers accepted a compromise wage offer yesterday and went back to their jobs after a paralyzing strike that began Oct. 11 and threatened to extend into the winter freeze-up.

SURPRISES MANY

When the end came, it was sudden and took most observers by surprise. Trans-Canada Air Lines had announced only hours before the settlement that it would transfer its staff to Sydney, N.S., from the huge Gander airport, where fuel supplies were running low.

There were fears that the northern outposts—already facing a shortage of food and fuel necessities—would face dire hardship if the tie-up continued into the win ter.

Many of Newfoundland's 320,000 inhabitants are dependent on the 350-mile narrow-gauge "right of way" that is the sole means of transport in large inland regions.

ACCEPT COMPROMISE

The railway co-operative board—representing 18 brotherhoods—originally asked for a 15-cent hourly wage hoist but finally settled for a 10-cent increase to hourly-paid men and a $20 a month jump to salaried workers. The increases are retroactive to June 16.

Law Society Bars B.C. Red

VANCOUVER, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Gordon Martin of Nanaimo, B.C. was refused admission to the British Columbia Bar because of his Communistic beliefs, it was shown yesterday in a report issued by the B.C. Law Society.

Martin said he would appeal the decision to civil liberties organizations and to members of the British Columbia legislature.

In a 3,000-word statement, the benchers said Martin was a self-admitted Communist, a member of the Labor-Progressive party, and declared he could not take the barristers' oath and remain a Communist. It found:

"He is not a person to be called to the bar or admitted as a solicitor of the supreme court of B.C., and;

"He has not satisfied them (the benchers) that he is a person of good repute within the meaning and intent of the Legal Profession Act."

The B.C. Professional Act permits decision for membership to be determined on the "apparent fitness" of applicants.

In commenting on the Benchers' report, Martin said:

"Every democratic citizen will be shocked at this decision, a profound violation of personal freedom and sets a precedent which can be used against anyone for his beliefs . . . Nowhere in any British country has anyone, to my knowledge, been denied admission to the legal profession because of his political views. The Benchers have refused to allow me to practice law for a single reason—that I am a member of a legal Canadian political party . . ."

what this new "security plan" will do for him

The Mutual Life of Canada's "Security Plan" enables you to start your child's insurance at a very early age, and at a low cost.

Protection starts at $100 at birth, increasing annually to $1,000 at age 9 and grading up to $5,000 at age 20. If money is required for educational purposes when the child reaches university age, the policy may be surrendered for its cash value, otherwise it may be continued at the very low premium rate until age 60 or 65 when a retirement income is available. The Cash Value increases yearly, and dividends are paid annually as declared.

The Mutual Life of Canada "Security Plan" enables you to take practical steps now for your child's future. Ask a Mutual representative to give you all the facts on this economical and adaptable plan.

DISTRICT NEWS IN BRIEF

Extended Tourist Season Is Urged

JASPER, Nov. 13.—Jasper Chamber of Commerce held its monthly banquet and business meeting on Tuesday in the CNR dining hall. There was a good attendance and President W. L. Yorke presided.

Reports were heard on various matters pertaining to the development of Jasper Park and stress was laid on the need for better roads, especially to Maligne Lake and Mt. Robson.

Mr. Keefer gave an interesting meteorological report of weather conditions in Jasper showing the advisability of extending the summer tourist season to take in the months of June and September. Larry McGuire, secretary of the Athabasca Outfitter's Association spoke convincingly of the problems facing his organization and was assured of support by the Jasper Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. York then called on Edd Neighbor who represented Jasper at the annual convention of Tourists and Publicity bureaus held in Quebec City last month.

Mr. Neighbor gave an interesting report of his trip to Quebec and mentioned many ways in which westerners might well emulate the business of the older provinces. "Quebec is tourist conscious and recognizes the tourist trade as their greatest industry."

In closing, Mr. Neighbor announced that W. L. Yorke has been appointed a member of the directorate of the Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaus.

Wetaskiwin Holds Memorial Service

WETASKIWIN, Nov. 13.—Lowering clouds and a cold, sleety drizzle formed a sombre background as Wetaskiwin turned out en masse to its Remembrance Day memorial service, held in the Audien theatre under the auspices of Wetaskiwin Post, No. 86, RESL, with Comrade J. S. Speakman as chairman.

Those taking part in the service and on the platform, in addition to Mr. Speakman were Chaplain Comrade R. D. Binning, Rev. E. O. Walker, chairman of the Wetaskiwin Ministerial Association, Rev. W. A. Wingblade, MLA, and Captain T. Smith.

Members of the Legion, veterans of both wars, D Squadron, 19th Armored Car Regiment, Air Cadets and Sea Cadets and Girl Guides were in the parade, which led by the Wetaskiwin Community Band marched to Memorial Park, following the service in the theatre, were wreaths were placed at the foot of the cenotaph and reveille sounded.

At the service the last post was played by Bandsman Frank Sablik. Music for the hymn service was played by Mrs. E. Shepherd, Mrs Len Mgllett, at the piano, Robert George and Mrs. Charles Condie.

A BUSINESS DEAL

GINKY decided that he had asked too much for the half-gallon syrup can which the Teenie Weenies wanted to buy for a town hall. The mouse had asked the ridiculous price of 75 grains of corn, 12 cracked walnuts and his weight in cheese. The Teenie Weenies had refused to pay such a high price for a used can and had gone off, leaving the mouse to ponder over the matter. After waiting for three days without word from the little folk Ginky decided to lower his price He went to the teapot where the Chinaman lives to discuss the matter, for the Chinaman understands mouse talk better than the rest of the Teenie Weenies.

The Chinaman answered the mouse's knock, asked him in and offered him a chair. Ginky nodded to the Policeman, who had dropped in for a chat and some sassafras tea, but he didn't sit down because chairs are rather uncomfortable resting places for mice with long tails. Ginky rested one foot on the chair and watched the Chinaman for a few moments while the little chap ironed a couple of Teenie Weenie bed sheets.

"I've decided to lower my price on that can you folks want to buy," said Ginky, with an air of unconcern. "I don't want to be a hog and so I'll reduce the price by five grains of corn."

"All same that much too muchie," said the Chinaman. "We have cigar box maybe we all time fix up. It no cost us nothings and it make plenty good towns hall. Me think Generals might pay 25 grains of corn, two walnuts but no cheeses for can."

THE TEENIE WEENIES
BY WM. DONAHEY

"SAY!" bellowed Ginky. "Do you want me to give the can away? I won't take a grain less than what I asked. I'll fix it up and live in it first."

"That good ideas. That make you all time fline home, but watch out for one bad things about that can," said the Chinaman, glancing shrewdly at the Policeman. "All time no way to get out of can if weasels come in."

Ginky jumped as though someone had stepped on his tail. That danger had not entered his mouse head and he was a bit startled. "Well," he said, with a great show of indifference, "you'll have to pay my price." He stamped out of the teapot in a huff.

Fortunately for the Teenie Weenies' bargaining power, a weasel had been reported in the neighborhood and Ginky decided to sell at the General's price. The mouse made his mark on a bill of sale and the Teenie Weenies handed over 25 grains of corn and two cracked walnuts in payment.
